PACKERS ADOPT OPEN SHOP PLAN; FIGHT TO FINISH

Prices are Boosted in Chicago Following Big Conflict.

LOUIS, Dec. 9.—Eleven independent packing companies signed a notice, printed in newspapers, that they would operate on an "open shop" plan on and after January 2 and at the same time cut a few scale of wages, which is a cut of 5 per cent for piece men and others ranging from 3 to 5 per cent for hourly men. The notice was signed by the packers of three plants in Chicago, which have been on strike since Monday, and remains unchanged.

FIGHT TO FINISH.
SHANGHAI, Dec. 9.—The packers have indicated to the union that they do not desire intervention in the strike now in progress, but to "fight it out," it was learned.

MEAT PRICES RISE.
CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Packer's of the wholesale price of meat as the strike of their unionized packers went into the fourth day, the price of meat advanced 30 pounds, an increase of from 9 to 10 cents since the strike was declared. The price of meat has advanced but much.

Railways Ask Preferential Seaport Rate Restoration

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—All of the American railroads are affected in petitions for a restoration of the preferential seaport rates in western California, scheduled to occupy the attention of the hearing presided over by W. A. Disque, examiner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, this afternoon.

The proceedings are reminiscent of the so-called intermountain rates cases which caused such an upheaval and were responsible for so much litigation before the commission. The railroads are asking for a restoration of the rates which were in effect before the war. The railroads are asking for a restoration of the rates which were in effect before the war. The railroads are asking for a restoration of the rates which were in effect before the war.

TRAFFIC ON RIVERS.
Today's morning session was still taken up with the Southern Pacific's request for eastbound reductions on its Sunset line. There were present representatives of the Traffic Bureau of the Oakland chamber of commerce, E. W. Hollingsworth, R. T. Boyd, L. R. Bishop and C. A. Bahler. J. H. Mulcahy, general freight agent of the Southern Pacific company at Portland, and formerly of San Francisco, was the chief witness. The examination was conducted by P. H. Wood of the Southern Pacific legal forces at Washington, D. C.

Mulcahy described the enormous amount of traffic handled on the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, which for the year ending June 30, 1921, was 1,819,746 tons. He pointed out that there were no handling charges in transshipping this freight when it was brought to the seaports by boat, but that there was handling charges when it was shipped in by rail.

He called attention to the fact that the present low rates on California products were due to the enormous surplus originating on the Pacific coast which must be moved to the centers of population in the east on a basis where it can compete with locally raised commodities and those imported from abroad. He explained that for 25 years and perhaps longer these rates have been in effect.

OAKLAND'S ADVANTAGE.
That Oakland and San Francisco are practically one in the present effort for lower rates was indicated during the session, and it was shown that Oakland enjoys one advantage through the fact that the wharfage charges there were 10 cents a ton as against 15 cents a ton for San Francisco.

The company wants preferential rates on seven commodities. According to Lewis J. Spence, director of traffic of the Southern Pacific, the company hopes to win back for its Galveston-New York steamship line traffic that has almost been taken away by competing companies operating through the canal.

The reduced rates now sought by the company are slightly higher than the existing steamship rates and if they are not effective, according to Spence, a still further reduction will be sought.

PROPOSED REDUCTIONS.
The company wants reduced rates on beans, barley, condensed milk, canned goods, dried fruits and asphalt. The proposed reductions would range from the present rate of 75 cents to $1.45, to 65 cents, to 55 cents. The proposed canal rates are from 55 to 62 cents.

Spence testified that in the first nine months of 1921 more than 131,000 tons of these commodities went through the canal as compared with the 526 tons carried by the company over its rail and water lines.

W. A. Worthington, vice-president of the Southern Pacific in charge of the traffic, submitted detailed traffic statistics to show that the business could be handled at the low rate, by utilizing excess locomotive power on trains of the Sunset route and excess cargo space on the steamers of the company plying between Galveston and New York. Worthington produced exhibits to show that the commodities could be transported at a maximum cost to the company of 50 cents per 100 pounds.

CHANGE OPPOSED.
It is claimed the proposed revision would not change the relative position of the ports of San Francisco, Oakland, Richmond, South Vallejo, San Pedro, Wilmington and San Diego.

Representatives of intermountain shippers are attending the hearing. They oppose the rate reduction on the ground the new rates would be discriminatory. Among those who are attending the hearing are J. F. Shaughnessy of Phoenix and Karl K. Garner of the Inter-Mountain Rate Association, who are opposing the reduction. Frank Lyon, representing steamship interests; William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific, and Paul Shoup, vice-president of the company, are also present.

The Southern Pacific has been joined in its application by its subsidiary, the Galveston, Harrisburg and San Antonio railroad, and the San Diego and Arizona Railroad Company.

DE VALERA AND CABINET SPLIT ON PEACE TREATY

Dail Eireann Called for Next Wednesday to Consider Settlement.

treaty between Ireland and Great Britain will be discussed at the Dail Eireann meeting next Wednesday by Arthur Griffith as chairman of the plenipotentiaries. It was announced today by President de Valera that a statement issued by the Dail publicity department. It would not be moved as a cabinet measure, added the statement, because the views of the plenipotentiaries differ from those of certain members of the cabinet.

DE VALERA REFUSES TO RECOMMEND TREATY.
De Valera last night issued a statement saying he could not recommend the peace treaty with Great Britain to the Dail Eireann or to the country and that in his attitude he is supported by the ministers of defense and of home affairs.

Following is the text of Eamon de Valera's message to the Irish people: "You have seen in the public press the text of the proposed treaty with Great Britain. The terms of this agreement are in violent conflict with the wishes of the majority of this nation as expressed freely at successive elections in the past three years."

"I feel it my duty to inform you immediately that I cannot recommend acceptance of this treaty either to the Dail Eireann or to the country. I am supported by the ministers of home affairs and defense. A public session of the Dail Eireann is being summoned for Wednesday. PEOPLE ASKED TO MAINTAIN DISCIPLINE."

I ask the people to maintain the same discipline as heretofore. Members of the cabinet, though of divided opinions, are prepared to carry on public services as usual. The army as such is, of course, not affected by the present situation. The great test of our people has come. Let us face it worthily, without bitterness, and above all, without recriminations. There is a definite constitutional way of resolving our political differences. Let us not depart from it, and let the conduct of the cabinet in the matter, be an example to the whole nation."

The third session of the Dail Eireann cabinet ended last night a few minutes after 9 o'clock. It is understood that the opinions of the members of the cabinet regarding the peace agreement were divided, and that the questions will be left to the decision of the Dail Eireann.

More Irish Freed From Prison Camp

DUBLIN, Dec. 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—The 1100 interned men in the Ballykinler camp were released today under the amnesty proclamation and left for their homes amid scenes of enthusiasm. Soldiers' songs were freely chanted, and the car windows of the trains bearing away the released men were ablaze with the Sinn Fein tricolor.

Illinois Mail Car Robbed Fourth Time

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 9.—A mail car on Illinois Central passenger train No. 3 was robbed between Chicago and Centralia, Ill., some time last night for the fourth time in about three months. Details of the robbery are lacking. The train was en route from Chicago to Florida points.

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—The Illinois Central railroad mail car robbed between Chicago and Centralia last night contained only second-class matter, consisting of papers and magazines, according to Illinois Central officials.

Publicist Drowned In Own Bathtub

LONDON, Dec. 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sir Arthur Pearson is dead as the result of an accident at his home here. While in his bath he slipped, striking his head against a faucet. Stunned, he fell into the water and was drowned before aid could reach him.

Cyril Arthur Pearson was born February 24, 1866. He was one of the outstanding publicists in England until his eyesight completely failed in 1914. He founded Pearson's Weekly and other well-known publications, among them the Daily Express of London.

Gardner Is Insane, Alienists Declare

BY UNITED PRESS
LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
PHOENIX, Dec. 9.—Roy Gardner is not sane. This is the unanimous testimony of expert alienists called by Carl A. Davis, counsel for the mail bandit, on trial here in federal court. "Gardner is laboring under systematized delusions," Dr. Win Wylie, alienist, said. "What the normal mind knows intuitively to be wrong or criminal is perfectly legitimate in Gardner's viewpoint." Dr. Wylie asserted that he believed Gardner had been born with the elements of insanity.

HARDING COMING WEST IN SPRING IS FALL'S BELIEF

Secretary of Interior, Too, Is Planning Trip to Alaska.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Dec. 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, arriving here today, confirmed previous reports that he would visit the Pacific Northwest and the territory of Alaska in the spring of 1922. Although definite arrangements for the trip have not yet been completed, Fall said, he was hopeful President Harding and Secretary of the Navy Donahoe would accompany him.

Fall brought greetings from President Harding to the League of the Southwest, in convention here to consider development of proposed irrigation and power projects on the Colorado river system. He indicated the government would probably grant no permits for individual, private or public power projects on the Colorado. It was intimated the government would, through the reclamation service, first work out a plan for all development work on the Colorado system before any action would be taken in determining the construction of any project.

Such a plan would mean, it is believed, that the controversy between the city of Los Angeles and the Southern California Edison Co. over the construction of a proposed Boulder canyon dam, would not be settled until the government's plan was completed. Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, will be appointed chairman of the Interstate Colorado River Commission.

College Man, Who Put Aside Fame to Walk Beat, Quits

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Twenty-five years ago Richard Birmingham, Fordham graduate, cut short a postgraduate course in surgery to become a policeman, because, he said, he would "rather walk a beat than be the world's greatest surgeon." He was on the retired list today with one of the best records in New York police history.

A student of criminology, Birmingham, who was made a sergeant of detectives, was credited with having obtained the confessions of many criminals through kind treatment.

He loved his job so well that he fought, he said, against promotion, because he did not want to be taken off the beat.

mission it was indicated in reliable advice received today by the League of the Southwest Conference. The appointment, delegates here believe, provide for immediate determination of a comprehensive plan for development of resources of the Colorado river in their entirety. Congress has been asked for an appropriation of $100,000 to carry on the work of the committee, it was stated.

Serious Earthquakes Are Reported in Italy

ROME, Dec. 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Serious earthquake shocks have been reported throughout this week from the region of Lake Bolzena, sixty miles northwest of here. The ground in several villages shows large fissures and most of the inhabitants are camping in the fields. No deaths have been reported.

OIL WORKERS ASK FOR CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press.)

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 9.—(By Associated Press.)—District Council No. 1 of the Oil Workers' Union, California, today sent to Secretary of Labor James J. Davis a telegram urging that he use his "good offices" in bringing about a conference between oil operators of this state and representatives of the union.

The conference is desired by the union, the telegram said, "to give a stability to the oil industry not now existing." Members of the oil workers' union were on strike for seven weeks in the San Joaquin Valley fields recently.

Members of the district council stated that if harmonious relations are not resumed the fields may be in a "chaotic condition" soon because of the many new men in the fields, seeking work.

Financial gain to the city, according to William Varcoe, city clerk, on account of the increased tonnage of the wet garbage which is now being sold.

A Statement Regarding Colonial Phonographs at Half Price

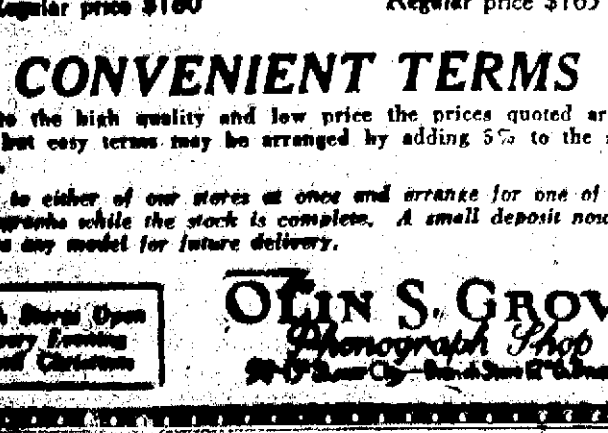

The identical phonographs that we are offering at the remarkable prices of $67.50, $75, $85, $95, $125 and $150, are being sold today in other localities at their regular prices—viz., $120, $150, $165, $180, $265 and $310.

The reason for these sensational prices on Colonial phonographs is caused by an overstock of these instruments on the Pacific Coast, and rather than pay expensive freight charges to ship them east, the manufacturers are offering them at less than wholesale in order to quickly turn them into money.

These instruments are brand new, beautiful, high-grade phonographs, perfectly equipped in all details, and are genuine bargains such as have never been offered in Oakland before.

Charlie Realizes As He Embarks What Nice Man His Lawyer Is

by Clark Chaplin

This is the sixth installment of Charlie Chaplin's Own Story, which started Sunday in The OAKLAND TRIBUNE. Yesterday he told of attending a party with Doug and Mary Fairbanks.

I wanted a long sleep, but was awakened by my lawyer at 9. He had packed a bag of legal documents and papers for me to sign, my orders about certain personal things of great importance. I have a splitting headache. My boat is sailing at noon and altogether, with a lawyer for a companion, it is a hideous day.

All through the morning the telephone bell is ringing. Reporters. I listen several times but it never varies.

"Mr. Chaplin, why are you going to Europe?"

To get rid of interviewers. I finally shout and hang up the phone. Somehow, with invaluable assistance, we get away from the hotel and on our way to the dock. My lawyer meets me there. He has come to see me off. I tremble, though, for fear he has more business with me.

I am criticized by my lawyer for talking so sharply the first thing in the morning. "That's just it. He always sees me the first thing in the morning. That's what makes me short."

But it is too big a moment. Something is stirring within me. I am anxious and reluctant about leaving. My emotions are all mixed.

It is a beautiful morning. New York looks much finer and nicer because I am leaving it. I am terribly troubled about passports and the usual procedure about declaring income tax, but my lawyer reassures me that he has fixed everything. O. K. and that my name will work a lot of influence with the American officials, but I am very dubious about it. When I am met by the American officials at the port.

I am terrified by American officials. I am extra-nice to the officials and to my amazement they are nice to me. Everything passes off very easily.

As usual, my lawyer was right. He had fixed everything. He is a good lawyer.

We could be such intimate friends if he weren't—but I am too twisted to give much time to pitying lawyers—I am going to Europe.

The crowds, reporters, photograppers, all sorts of traffic, pushing, shoving, opening passages, almost clock-like precision. I am shoved aboard.

The newspaper battery, pictorial and reporterial. There is no original note.

"Mr. Chaplin, why are you going to Europe?"

I feel that in this last moment I should be a bit more tolerant and pleasant, no matter how difficult I bring forth the "prop" smile again.

"For a vacation," I answer.

"Then they go through the standard interview form and I try to be obliging."

There is a young prima donna aboard. She has her legs crossed. Ladies going abroad, and having their pictures taken on the boat always have their legs crossed, as I don't understand why we should be photographed together, as I don't see anything in common about singing and pantomime science.

But on this last opportunity we are both obliging.

Mrs. John Carpenter is on the boat. Was also invited to my party, but couldn't attend. She is with her charming daughter, who has the face of an angel. Also Edward Knobloch. We are all photographed. "Doug" and Mary are missing. Lot of people to see me off. Somehow I don't seem interested in them very much. My mind is pretty well occupied. I am trying to make conversation, but am more interested in the people and the boat and those who are going to travel with me.

Many of the passengers on the boat are bringing their children that I have introduced. I don't mind children.

"I have seen you so many times in the pictures." I find myself smiling at them graciously and pleasantly, especially the children. I doubt if I am really sincere in this, as it is too early in the morning. Despite the fact that I love children, I find them difficult to meet. I feel rather inferior to them. Most of them have assurance. Have not yet been cursed with self-consciousness.

And one has to be very much on his best behavior with children, because they detect our insincerity. I find there are quite a lot of children on board.

I am feeling very tired and exhausted, feel as though I would like to close myself up on the entire trip, to relax, recuperate, as I have by this time a very good idea of what is ahead of me in Europe. We go to the stateroom.

Everybody busy but me. Wish I was handling baggage or something. Come up on deck and find myself looking over the side of the rail. Crowds are down below. They recognize me. I do nothing but smile and raise my hat. It is a beautiful day.

Every one is so pleasant, especially those left behind. Handkerchiefs are waving. The boat is off. We start to move, the waters are churning. Am feeling very sad, rather regretful—think what a nice man my lawyer is.

Two or three friends are disappointed at not seeing me off. I realize how nice it was of Mrs. Carpenter to come down to the boat. All this as the boat is moving. Handkerchiefs still waving, but with distance their tempo decreases. The folks on shore seem ever so much nicer as we draw away. I think of a dozen things I wanted to say to those who bade me goodbye. It's too late to even shout. It always is that way when one is leaving.

We turn around the bend and get into the channel. The crowds are but little files now. In this fleeting dramatic moment there comes the feeling of leaving something very dear behind.

The camera man and many of his brothers are aboard. I discover him as I turn round. I did not want to discover any one just then. I wanted to be alone with sky and water. But I am still Charlie Chaplin. I must be photographed—and am.

We are passing the Statue of Liberty—the camera man asks me to wave and throw kisses, which rather annoys me.

The thing is too obvious. It offends my sense of sincerity.

The Statue of Liberty is thrilling, dramatic, a glorious symbol. I would feel self-conscious and cheap in deliberately waving and throwing kisses at it. I will be myself.

I refuse.

The incident of the photograph aims seeker before the Statue of Liberty upset me. I felt that he was trying to capitalize the statue. The request was deliberate, inane, it offended me. It would have been like calling an audience to witness the placing of flowers upon a grave. Patriotism is too deep-a feeling to depict in the posing for a photograph. Why are attempts made to parade such emotions? I feel glad that I have the courage to refuse.

As I turn from the photographer I feel a sense of relief. I am to have a reprieve from such annoyances. Reporters for the while are left behind. It is a delicious sense of security.

I am ready for the new adjustment. I am in a new world, a little city of its own, where there are new people—people who may be either pleasant or unpleasant, and mine is the interesting job of placing them in their proper category. Like most strangers, I resent introductions, and new acquaintances to me are a problem, though I am often rewarded with warm friendships. Right now I don't think I want to know anybody. It is more than a thought. I am resolved to meet nobody and just play around with Ed Knobloch, Carl Robinson, my representative, and Harrington, my secretary.

Dismissing new acquaintances, I feel glad—spirit of adventure seizes me. I want to explore new lands and I feel that I shall have ample opportunity on such an immense ship. The Olympic is enormous and I conjure up all sorts of pleasure to be had in its different rooms—Turkish baths, gymnasium, music rooms—its Ritz-Carlton restaurant, where everything is elaborately and of ornate splendor. I find myself looking forward to my evening meal.

We go to the Ritz grill to dine. Every one is pleasant. I seem to sense the feel of England immediately. Foreign food—a change of system—the different bill of fare, with money in terms of pounds, shillings and pence. And the savory pheasant, grouse and wild duck. For the first time I feel the elegant gentleman, the man of means.

There comes a delicious sense of freedom, the luxury that comes with relief from responsibility. Without occupation, yet no need to fret. Dining in sumptuous rooms, taking coffee in romantic gardens on one side of the boat. A garden with music unobtrusive, yet alluring, weaving its way through the foliage. Its beauty awes me.

It is almost sufficient. I sink into a refection of almost perfect contentment as I speculate about the interesting people on board. I want to meet them. Gone is my feeling of reserve—vanished are my hermit-like resolutions. It's a feeling that is in the air. What does it? The waves? The music? The isolation? Perhaps a combination of all three, but it's there.

I ask questions and discover that there are really some very interesting people aboard. But I resent any one telling me about them. I want to discover them myself. I almost shout when some one tries to read me a passenger list. This is my desert island—I am going to explore it myself. The prospect is intriguing. I am 3000 miles from Hollywood and 3000 miles from Europe. For the moment I belong to neither.

God be praised, I am myself. It is my little-moment of happiness, the glorious "today" that is sandwiched in between the exhausting night of yesterday of Los Angeles and the portentous "tomorrow" of Europe.

For the moment I am content.

CHINESE OF S. F. PROTEST JAPAN'S SHANTUNG GRAB

Thousands of Orientals in Parade, Later Hold Mass Meeting.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—More than 1000 Chinese attended a mass meeting held last night in St. Mary's hall, in the Chinese quarter, to protest Japan's jurisdiction over Shantung.

Demands were made that Shantung be returned to China "without strings." Among those who addressed the gathering were C. C. Kwan, Chinese student at the University of California; Y. C. Kwan of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce; C. C. Wong, editor of a local Chinese language newspaper; Mr. Pan Chen, editor of another Chinese publication; and Mr. Y. Chu, president of the Chinese Welfare Association.

The meeting was preceded by a parade through the downtown district. Thousands of Chinese of all ages participated, carrying banners and operating pictorial floats embodying protests against Japan's acquisition of Shantung and demanding its return to China.

In addressing the mass meeting Wong said: "If we acknowledge that Japan has any right whatsoever to claim any jurisdiction over Shantung we automatically acknowledge that she has a right to present her twenty-one demands, which, if accepted, would crush us."

"Japan grabbed Shantung by force and succeeded in gaining the recognition of her claims by trickery at the Paris conference. We must now tell the world in plain terms the real circumstances surrounding the Shantung grab, and then we will surely be supported in our demands by all right-thinking people."

SUBWAY DANCE FEATURES FAIR

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—Only one more day remains in which to see the California Industrial Exposition at the Civic Auditorium. The exhibition directors plan to bring the fair to a close tomorrow night with festivity and ceremony.

Today the Red Cross Accountants' Association, Valencia Street Association and Marin and Sonoma counties each made their contribution to the activities.

The popular attraction of today's program promises to be a "subway dance" tonight in the basement of the auditorium, which has been revised and decorated for the purpose. A part of the Red Cross program for this evening will be several musical numbers, one of which will be rendered by Lillian Ruggiero in the uniform of a Red Cross nurse.

The San Francisco Accountants' association will hold a meeting at the auditorium tonight, and will take a general part in the festivities as their share of the program.

School children of the city gave their last musical contribution to the exposition today, with the exception of a musical program this evening, which will end their participation in the festivities.

Tomorrow will witness another public wedding. This time it is to be a Polish marriage, performed after the Polish custom, and attended by old Polish music. The bride will be Miss Ludvine Butler and the groom John V. Cowalkowski.

RECOGNIZE MEXICAN MASONRY. WACO, Tex., Dec. 8.—Recognition of the Mexican grand lodge was extended by the Texas Masonic grand lodge in convention here.

BOARD ORDERS BUS HALT AT ALL RAILWAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—According to an order issued by the state railroad commission, all passenger carrying buses must come to a full stop between fifty and seventy-five feet from railroad tracks before crossing, and after bringing their machine to a stop drivers must look carefully in all directions before starting. The order forbids the driver to start if any train are seen approaching in either direction. Steam and electric trains are included, but not street car tracks within municipalities.

The order, it was declared, was issued with a view towards cutting down the accident rate, but it was explained that the commission has no jurisdiction over school buses, rent cars and taxi cabs and these are not included in the order.

Mysterious Blaze Destroys Drug Store

A fire of mysterious origin which started in the storeroom of the drug store of David Penzance at 802 Seventh street destroyed the entire stock, valued at $2500. The Vincent rooming house, which is on the second floor in the same building, was in danger of being destroyed when the fire department arrived. The lodgers fled from the building with their personal belongings, but soon returned when they found that their sleeping quarters were not in danger.

Str Isaac Newton, the great scientist, was so small at birth that he might have fitted in a quart mug.

'NO ALLIANCES WITH FOREIGN NATIONS' FALL

Secretary of Interior Thinks
Washington Conference Will Succeed.

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 9.—A. B. Fall, secretary of the interior, Price McKinney, multi-millionaire manufacturer of Cleveland, O., and E. O. McCormick, vice-president of the Southern Pacific railroad, of San Francisco, arrived in Riverside this morning. They have been together for ten days. This is their first stop since they left Washington, D. C. They are on their way to San Diego. Fall will attempt to unravel certain tangles in the report of the reclamation department of the government. Here's some of the things that were given out by the secretary at the breakfast table:

I'm not going to speak at the League of the Southwest.

I quit making speeches when I left the United States senate.

I see no reason why the Sino-American bill providing for the use of government land for cattle grazing should not be passed.

There are rumors that the four big nations have not entered into an agreement as has been published.

I certainly hope that the United States doesn't enter into any agreement with any foreign nation.

The conference in Washington seems to be progressing favorably and will probably accomplish something. What that something is is not yet apparent.

McKinney, one of the biggest steel and iron men in the country, expressed himself as optimistic as to the firm basis of reconstruction in the country. McKinney has large mine holdings in Mexico, which he may visit while Fall is busy in San Diego.

LAKE MERRITT, PIEDMONT, ARE IN MOTION PICTURE

The Independent Art Producers who are at present using the San Mateo Studios, have begun producing a five-reel drama, "The Test," in Oakland. Lake Merritt with its hundreds of ducks swimming about, and the beautiful Piedmont residential district, will be seen in nearly every leading motion picture house in the country within the next few months, according to Arnold W. Stanton, president of the movie company.

Every scene of the drama is laid in Oakland, and for the next month the company will be shooting pictures in the foothills, Piedmont and at various manufacturing companies. It was said by officials of the company.

Because of the natural beauty of the East Bay region, Stanton has chosen this side of the bay for the production.

"The Test" is a story of a young millionaire who wins success and great victory through defeat. The young millionaire is defeated by an ironworker in a political campaign.

There are eight leads in the play, and they are taken by Ella Stanton, Arnold Stanton, Gladys Morgan, Harold Whelan, Euphonia McCormick, Carolyn Killian, J. A. Crawford and Edward Johnson.

BARKEEP SLEEPS WHILE OFFICERS HUNT EVIDENCE

John McCarthy might not have been arrested last night for violating the dry law if he had paid attention to business and not gone to sleep behind the bar.

Business, but been very quiet during the early part of the evening. McCarthy had a big fire burning. He fell asleep. Policemen E. F. Murphy and Wallace Canning went in and searched the place while he enjoyed his sleep. When they were finished they woke him up and placed him under arrest, charged with violating the national prohibition act.

Theodore Willis, 251 Sixth street, and Vincent Blakowski, both owners of soft drink parlors, were arrested by the same two officers on similar charges. In each of the three places a small quantity of liquor was seized by the raiding officers.

The Christmas Spirit is Abroad in the Land

Now is the time to throw off restraint and give expression to the softer, kindlier emotions through tokens and gifts and words of affection

Christmas

When the Christmas spirit creeps into the hearts of all, the world is made better and brighter. Christmas comes around just often enough to keep us young and unselfish. And the beauty of Christmas is that it does not measure the value of gifts in dollars.

The gift need not be expensive to convey love and friendship.

This store is a great treasure trove of practical gifts gathered from the four corners of the world. There are hundreds of things that can be chosen that are very low in price but which have the Capwell quality.

Here's a Cartoon Secret; Sketch a Face Like An Egg

HOW easy!
A man's face is shaped like an egg!
That's what the OAKLAND TRIB-UNE cartoon expert says in his next lesson on cartooning for the kiddies, to be published next Sunday in the AUNT ELIE MAGAZINE.
The first lesson was published last Sunday. There will be a lesson every week. Any boy or girl with natural ability at drawing will be astonished at the results obtained from these lessons. They tell the secret "tricks" of the trade, known by all professionals.
In THE TRIBUNE every Sunday.

STRAVINSKY SUITE PUZZLES HEARERS

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.
Igor Stravinsky's "The Fire Bird" had its introduction to a western audience by the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra last evening at the University of California. It proved for those who had heard naught of Stravinsky, a violation of most of the things they had been taught to expect of music, and for those with some acquaintance with his moods and modes not nearly so startling as it might have been.
There is nothing mystic about Stravinsky so far as his dimensions are concerned. He is a two-dimensionist, not a four. Yet, in spirit, he is mystical. He has a queer way of telling you the meaning and the appearance of things at the same time.
He offers the variations of the Fire-Bird, and they are its variations not only as to colors and plumage but as to intentions and meanings.
This particular suite of Stravinsky is a succession of contrasts. It offers first a display of orchestral vagaries. The band tootles, groans, chirps, screams, whistles, laughs and sobs by turns. None would suppose it possible to do so many things with an orchestra. Follows an el-eged dance, which is a steady succession of most winsome melodies.
There seems no limit therein to the man's melodic inventiveness. After that, a grotesque dance in which the orchestra is strained again to the limit.

By contrast Grieg's good old "Hail of the Mountain King," comparable in meaning, becomes a cradle song.
Once more the composer returns to the mellifluous, only to break in toward the end suddenly upon his muted strings with one final excursion into mad harmonies. Hearing them you say to yourself: No wonder Stravinsky detests Beethoven: the spirit of the grand old master must make his dreams uncomfortable for such maltreatment as this.
It will take more than one hear-

LIONS CLUB WILL PLAY SANTA FOR NEEDY CHILDREN

Oakland Organization Raises
$1100 Christmas Tree
Fund At Lunch.

The sum of $1100 was raised by members of the Oakland Lions club at their luncheon meeting at the Hotel Oakland yesterday for the poor children's Christmas tree, on December 21. The needy children in four of Oakland's schools are to be given toys and clothing and will be otherwise remembered by the Lions, who will play the part of a collective Santa Claus. The four schools are Harrison, Campbell, Francis and Tompkins. The principals of those schools will furnish the Lions with a list of the children who would otherwise be "forgotten by Santa Claus."
At yesterday's meeting it was announced that the new Marysville
Lions club will receive its charter on Saturday evening. The Oakland Lions club arranged to send a large delegation to that place to welcome the new club into the organization.
The local Lions will go to Marysville by automobile on Saturday.
Yesterday's meeting was presided over by William Steel, a member of the board of directors.

ing to feel at home with the suite, and more playing before the orchestra is altogether at home in it. It was nervously played last evening.
A greater solidity will be achieved the more often it is tried. Yet it was technically sufficient and Alfred Hertz seemed to have transmitted a warm appreciation of its beauties to his instrumentalists.

Mendelssohn's Scotch symphony and Schumann's "Manfred" overture were on the same program. The symphony is at best a rather loosely woven series of tone pictures; nothing much after all except melodies of the characteristic Mendelssohnian order, but it was gracefully played.
The overture was a tour de force for the strings and never found them wanting.

Everyone approves of the delicious taste & flavor

What's Happening in the Motor World

Motorists, get your headlights adjusted, and do it before you drive in Oakland on Saturday night. Sergeant Nedderman, traffic chief, aided by Lester Manning, state inspector of the motor vehicle department, will conduct a raid on the streets of the city tomorrow night, from 5:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

One was staged last Tuesday night and more than 150 motorists were arrested. Most of the cases were thrown out of court because the officers did not have time to file complaints against the huge number taken.

This time it will be different. Judge Tyrell says he will fine offenders $2 or more, according to the seriousness of his offense.

"We are trying to eliminate the cause of many bad accidents by arresting the drivers who have glaring headlights," says Sergeant Nedderman.

"Many motor car owners think that their lights are properly adjusted when they stick a pair of lenses in front of the lamps and start driving."

"Lenses can cause grave and dangerous glare if they are not properly adjusted."

"We aim to carry on this campaign," Nedderman declares, "until every headlight in the Eastbay cities is correctly adjusted."

Witness Testifies

To Morrison Will

Superior Judge George Samuels today has under advisement a legal question involving the entire probate proceedings in the estate of Leon Morrison, Oakland clothing merchant. In the case Miss Marian Scott seeks to prove a lost will leaving her the entire estate, valued at $88,000. John M. McKenzie, nurse at Fabiola hospital, who attended Morrison during his last illness, and Barney Hoffman, friend of McKenzie, were witnesses at the hearing yesterday. Hoffman testified that he had read the will and was able to repeat its contents word for word.

Tech High Students

To Present Opera

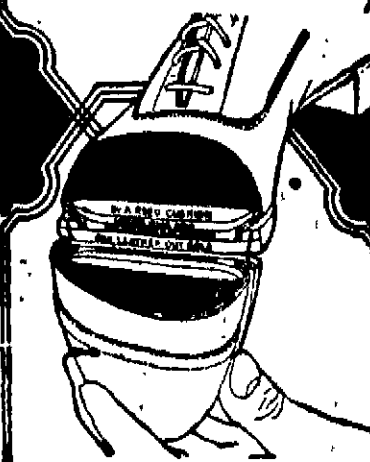

Members of the Technical High school music department will present "The Bohemian Girl," a grand opera in three acts at 7:15 o'clock tonight in the school auditorium. The opera was produced yesterday by the school as a part of the observance of Education Week, and will be repeated tonight as a result of the request of George Brazil, who will play the part of Count Arnheim. Mand Steiner will play Arline, and the character of Devilshoof will be portrayed by Marion de Roco.

Blood Saps Energy
Gude's Pepto-Mangan
Rebuilds the Blood

Living with a weakened condition the blood is a desperate struggle. Watery blood deprives the energy and causes a play-acting not unlike utter exhaustion. A man with weak blood has full use of his powers. His decision and vacillates until he loses confidence.

Men, and women, too, go along for months scarcely knowing that they need Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the blood-builder. When they have taken it for a while a difference there is in feeling. The old-time vigor of red-blooded hue of good return. The new rich blood work, building, fortifying, the spirit up to its normal level. Physicians have prescribed Gude's Pepto-Mangan for as a blood-builder. Druggists in liquid and tablet form. Look for a name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package. Advertisement.

BLUE BIRD BUREAU OF THE TRIBUNE

Santa Claus delivers toys by airplane nowadays and drops the playthings into the black, hungry mouths of all the Christmas chimneys. That is, he TRIES to drop at least one toy into each chimney, but flying as he does so high up among the clouds, it is only natural that he should miss a chimney now and then.

Old Saint Nick is still old-fashioned in many ways and has not been able to bring himself to the point of setting up a wireless outfit on his airplane. Otherwise the Blue Bird could send him a spattering radio message when his toys fell short of the mark.

"Look out there, Santy, old fellow!"

Nellie Smith's house, plumped, head first into a mud puddle!

But the B. B. Bureau has a way that is just as good. A fine, large, happy Blue Bird makes his home on the roof of The TRIBUNE building and when Santa Claus flies over head the Blue Bird carries the letters of the Oakland children up to him. And if Santa misses any of the chimneys, the Blue Bird picks the toys up in his bill and drops them in himself. Of course even a happy Blue Bird can't attend to all the chimneys, so he asks the Goodfellows of Oakland, to bring or send toys or clothing or Christmas dinners to the kiddies that Santa Claus misses.

Here is a letter that came from an Oakland mother to the Blue Bird today:

Dear Blue Bird: Seeing in The Oakland TRIBUNE that you are helping hundreds of others, I also am coming to you for help. My husband has just got to work, after three months of idleness, and my little children are daily asking that Santa won't forget them. And it almost breaks my heart to hear them because I know, dear Blue Bird, that we are unable to give what they want. And to make it a little harder, we are not even living in a house, not being able to pay the high rent the landlords are asking and not only that, they don't want any more than one or two children, and I have four—seven years, four years, two years and one year old, three boys and one girl. We are living in a large tent that was loaned to us and some friends let us put it up in their large back yard under a shed out of the rain. But it gets wet just the same. These people also have four little children and her husband is not working at all. So, dear Blue Bird, all I am asking from you is a little toy for each of my children and some little clothes. Even overalls and underclothes would certainly be welcome as it is awful cold these days and they are not clothed warm enough. My husband is not making enough now, only barely enough to feed us."

SPOKANE ILLITERACY LOW.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—New Bedford, Mass., has the highest percentage of illiteracy among cities of more than 100,000 population, according to a census report. Spokane, Wash., was listed as having the lowest percentage, 0.8.

Alameda Incinerator Will Be Built Soon

ALAMEDA, Dec. 9.—Bids for the new Alameda municipal incinerator will be opened December 20, and it is expected that by May 1 the plant will be in operation. Work will start as soon after January 1 as it is possible to have it. The capacity of the incinerator will be 48 tons of refuse a day. At present, however, the refuse only amounts to 27 tons so that the size of the structure will allow for the doubling of the city's population.

CLEAN CHIMNEYS ASKED.
ALAMEDA, Dec. 9.—Fire Chief Walter Steinmetz has issued a request that all householders clean their chimneys so as to lessen the dangers of fire during the holiday season. Nearly all roof fires are caused from dirty chimneys, particles of soot catching fire and then falling upon the wooden roof coverings, according to Steinmetz.

Dance Frocks
$38.75

Here it is in all its radiant glory—a real dance frock sale. One that will set every woman's beauty-loving heart a-thrill.

Taffeta frocks with the witchery and beauty that only a taffeta dancing frock may possess—with the newest of the new style notes—bouffant hips adding the sum-total of loveliness to petite figures—row upon row of scalloped flouncings.

There's not a single frock among the whole wonderful array that would not be marked at very much higher prices if this were ordinary times.

The coming gay holiday festivities demand a new frock, and what better opportunity than now at this price to purchase.

This illustrates but one of the many fascinating modes in this sale.

BERKELEY, Dec. 9.—The semi-annual concert by the students of the California School for the Deaf and the Blind, at the head of Parker street, will be given next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock under the direction of Otto Fleissner, director of music. Mrs. Maria von Sturmer, vocal instructor, Miss Natalie Bigelow, violin instructor, Miss Gussie Mast, piano instructor and Miss Lella Johnson director of primary chorus.

Those who will take part in the concert will be the primary chorus consisting of many voices—Raymond Wilder, Jean Van Ness, Don Hurley, Gladys Road, Thelma, Mouth, William Anderson, Earl Young, Harvey Hoskin, James Gray and Francis McRae.

BROTHER, 68, SISTER, 56, MEET FOR FIRST TIME

BERKELEY, Dec. 10.—Seeing each other for the first time, Mrs. Rose Thomas of Lathrop, 56 years old and Joseph Santos 68, sister and brother, are making up for the lost years in a reunion at the Santos home 1424 Fifth street.

Less than a hundred miles separated the couple for many years, but each did not know the other's whereabouts until mutual friends brought them together.

SANTA CLARA MAN, DAZED, IS FOUND

BERKELEY, Dec. 9.—Picked up at Virginia street and La Loma avenue in a dazed condition, H. A. Mayo of Santa Clara, 75 years old, was taken to the emergency hospital yesterday afternoon, where for some time he was unable to tell who he was. He later established his identity and was taken to the home of his Santa Clara address at 766 Madison street.

Mayo was believed to have become dazed as a result of a fall although no serious injuries to his head could be found at the hospital. He gave his Santa Clara address as 766 Madison street.

Community Ball Will Be Held by Melrose School

MRS. B. P. HOFFMANN, president of Melrose Heights Parent-Teachers' Association, sponsoring a community dance tomorrow night.

Dance to Be Given Under the Direction of Parent-Teacher Association.

A community dance the first of a series will be held tomorrow night in Melrose Heights School auditorium under the direction of members of the local Parent-Teachers' Association. Mrs. B. P. Hoffmann, president is a leader in the neighborhood movement.

The Saturday night dance is among the first community affairs which will be given in the new assembly hall which has recently been accepted by the board of education.

BUSINESS BLOCK SOLD
LODI, Dec. 9.—Earl Van Buskirk has sold his modern two-story brick business building, Pine and School streets to Mrs. J. B. Cox, wife of a prominent fruit grower and bank director for a price said to be in the neighborhood of $75,000. Mrs. Cox made the purchase as an investment.

MILLION-DOLLAR SCHOOL IS URGED

ALAMEDA, Dec. 9.—Mrs. Sidney Hissett, president of the newly organized Parent-Teachers' Association of the Alameda High school, urged before the Alameda Housewives League yesterday in support of a proposition to secure the creation of a million dollar high school in this city.

Mrs. Hissett also urged greater cooperation between the parents, teachers and housewives in order to bring about a more intelligent understanding of the educational problem of the community.

Woman Billiardist Is Seen in Alameda
ALAMEDA, Dec. 9.—Miss Frances Anderson, world champion woman pocket billiard player, gave an exhibition of fancy shots and billiard stunts in the Alameda school auditorium last night. The exhibition which was given in order to encourage the playing of the game more generally by women was witnessed by a large gathering of local women as well as men. Mrs. Jake Shacter, mother of the new world champion and her daughter, Mrs. Campbell, refereed the matches between Miss Anderson and Marie Catton which followed the former's exhibition. Catton was defeated 60-1. As both players are stars the spectators were treated to some wonderfully fine playing.

BRITISH PROTEST PROPOSAL TO CUT MONETARY VALUES

Restoration of Gold Standard
Urged By Leading Financiers of London.

LONDON Dec. 7.—Suggestions advanced by certain economic theorists to stabilize the value of the English pound at say 15 shillings gold, thereby reducing the American exchange from $4.86 to a new parity of $3.55 to the pound and creating a gold premium of 37 per cent do not meet with the approval of practical British bankers.

Mr. Charles Addis, president of the Institute of Bankers in an inaugural address to that body, made a strong plea for continued efforts to restore the gold standard.

He said that a return to pre-war parity could not be accomplished unless new and unexpected inflation should take place in America without a considerable amount of further deflation in Great Britain.

Devaluation proposals he declared were premature, unopportune and inexpedient. He refused to believe that the British people could be induced to tamely accept their monetary past and to relinquish the dearly purchased gold standard, which they believed to be bound up with the prestige of their nation's credit and their supremacy in international finance.

Sir Felix Schuster, another prominent banker observed that in the last two years Britain had repaid $200,000,000 of foreign debts, £100,000,000 of which were paid to America. He thought that the question of repaying the balance due to America by the period of repayment were spread over 30, 40 or 50 years could be faced with courage. If Britain showed its firm determination to get back to the old standard, he said, confidence would return with an unshaken belief of the whole world in the pound sterling.

BERKELEY GAINS IN POPULATION AND INDUSTRIES

Census Report Shows 56,036 Persons, With .246 Per Ct. Factory Increase.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. — Census figures on manufactures in the cities of Berkeley, Long Beach, Sacramento and San Diego made public by the Census Bureau yesterday, show a healthy growth in the value of their manufactured products during the period from 1914 to 1919.

Long Beach shows the highest percentage of increase, 510 per cent, while Berkeley shows an increase of 246 per cent. Sacramento 123 per cent and San Diego 107 per cent in the value of manufactures.

Population figures at four cities are given as follows:

Berkeley, 58,036.

Long Beach, 55,593.

Sacramento, 65,908.

San Diego, 74,653.

The value of products for each city is given as follows for 1919:

Berkeley, $3,332,000; Long Beach, $14,517,000; Sacramento, $4,199,000; San Diego, $20,26,000.

The value added by manufacture, which means the value of the products, less cost of materials, is shown to be as follows:

Berkeley, $3,840,000; Long Beach, $8,543,000; Sacramento, $16,388,000; San Diego, $9,212,000.

Wages paid in 1919 in the four communities were:

Berkeley, $2,691,000; Long Beach, $4,653,000; Sacramento, $7,577,000; San Diego, $3,554,000.

FOR INDIGESTION

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly heard. In many cases the relief comes from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, put out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. of Parmit (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmit is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, but also to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the result is that the hearing is nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial. —Advertisement.

Service Employees to Give Entertainment

The Eastbay section, Pacific Service Employees' Association, will give an entertainment at Ebbel hall next Tuesday evening. This will be the last show of the year to be given by the Eastbay section.

The bookkeeping department will act as hostesses and its orchestra will furnish the music. After the show there will be dancing.

Berkeley Man Run Down by Automobile

S. Jentry, 6554 Whitney street, Berkeley, was struck by an automobile at Fortieth street and San Pablo avenue which failed to stop and render aid to the injured man. Jentry was picked up by a passing automobile, which was driven by P. S. Egan, 2204 Eighth avenue. He was treated at the Emergency hospital for cuts and bruises about the face and body.

WILL GIVE WHIST PARTY.

Dayside Parlor No. 204, N. D. G. W., has completed plans for its annual Christmas cheer turkey whist party in Odd Fellows' Temple, Eleventh and Franklin streets, this evening. Elaborate arrangements include invitations to many of the members of Eastbay parlors to participate. In charge are Josephine Bess Loomis, Anna Claire Smith, Lorraine E. Bird, Dorothy Murphy, May Nadran, Aridene Cook, Camille Baldramos, Bertha Peterson, Rita Clyde, Anita Bradley, Madge Ryan and Sadie Carroll.

SUE FOR WAR SEIZURES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Sue has been filed in the supreme court of the District of Columbia by Edmond Gans, J. R. Sigstehrn and Gottfried Bauman Klenast, co-partners, of Zurich, Switzerland, to recover property valued at $4,500,000, seized by the alien property custodian during the war.

CUTICURA HEALS HARD PIMPLES

On Face and Through Hair. Itched and Burned.

"My trouble began with pimples breaking out on my face. They were also scattered all through my hair and itched and burned, causing me to scratch and pull at my hair. The pimples were hard, large and red, and some were scabbed and sore."

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which helped me right away. I bought more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, I was healed." (Signed) Miss Susan Dietzel, West Basin, Montana, April 23, 1921.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Cream are all you need for every toilet and nursery purpose.

Sample Book Free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura" Laboratories, Dept. 500, Portland, Me. Sold everywhere. Keep the Ointment in the bottle. Cuticura Soap, always without soap.

PIEDMONT PLANS DINNER TO HONOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Chief Culver and His Force Will Be Banqueted On Receiving Trophy.

PIEDMONT, Dec. 9.—Piedmont is to honor the men of her fire department and their chief, W. E. Culver, a banquet and celebration in the auditorium of the Piedmont club on Wednesday evening, December 4. The board of trustees has joined hands with the Boy Scouts of Piedmont Council to arrange the occasion. Appointment of the service rendered by the fire department will be made by the president of the Boy Scouts Council, W. C. M. Alexander, and by their chairman, Rev. J. J. McKim.

The banquet will be in the nature of a public celebration of the winning of the fire trophy offered to the fire department by the city of Piedmont. The trophy is a silver cup having on its base the words "Fire Department of Piedmont, 1921".

Tax Rebates Being Made By Assessor

ALAMEDA, Dec. 9.—Rebates upon the overpaid taxes on the personal property roll have been made by City Assessor Fred J. Croli and are being mailed by his office. This rebate comes about through the fact that the city council this year reduced the tax rate from $2.24 to $1.94. The change was not made, however, until after the assessor's office had collected the personal property taxes and he was compelled to use last year's rate in his collections. More than 3,500 warrants have been made out by the office and these have now been started on their way. The amounts of rebate range from 7 cents to $129.45 and the total will be $369.08.

Registrations Expire After January 1

ALAMEDA, Dec. 9.—City Clerk William E. Varcoe has sent a general notification to all voters that every one will be required to re-register on and after January 1 as all registrations expire at that time. The state laws require that a new register shall be compiled every year. It is held by the county clerk's office, however, that for the purpose of any proposed city and county consolidation elections that may take place previous to April 1, 1922, registrations as now shown by the register will be accepted.

SALE OF SEALS MEETS GENEROUS RESPONSE HERE

Two Million Stamps to Be Disposed of to Fight the White Plague.

The sale of the Christmas Seals of the Tuberculosis Association has come to be an established annual event which serves the double purpose of raising funds for the work and of focusing the attention of the public on the need of keeping up a continuous fight against the white plague, according to Frederick Kahn, chairman of the County Seal Sale committee of the association.

"That the fight is well worth while," said Kahn, "is shown by the fact that the death rate from tuberculosis has been steadily declining since the organized effort to control the disease has been in operation. The death rate from tuberculosis in the United States, according to government statistics, was 202.6 per 100,000 inhabitants in 1904, the year the National Tuberculosis Association was founded. Since that time deaths from the disease have steadily decreased until in 1919, according to the latest available statistics, the tuberculosis death rate in this country was 125.6 per 100,000 population."

SALE OF SEALS FACTOR.
In the attainment of these results the sale of Christmas Seals has been by no means an insignificant factor, according to Roscoe Jones, president of the local association.

"The first tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale in this country," said Jones, "were offered to the public in Wilmington, Del., through the efforts of Miss Emily D. Bassell in 1907. She had paid of the use made of the seals to raise funds for a children's hospital in Norway and she believed that a similar fund-raising method could be followed successfully in this country. From the proceeds of the first Christmas Seal sale $1000 was donated to help start Hope Farm in Delaware. Miss Bassell was secretary of the Red Cross in Wilmington, and in 1908 she was backed by the National Red Cross in a country-wide seal sale."

The Tuberculosis Association has no connection with the Red Cross now, however, for in 1917 the National Tuberculosis Association began to conduct the Christmas Seal sale annually in this country. The amount secured through these sales has grown from $135,000 in 1908 to $4,000,000 in 1920.

2,000,000 STAMPS QUOTA.
This year the National Association (There are 65 branch or local associations, such as the Alameda County Association, in the State of California) will put on sale 2,000,000 Christmas Seals. Our quota of this number in Alameda county is 2,000,000 stamps. The funds raised from seal sales have been called "seed money" and have been widely used to spread information regarding

HOSPITAL WORK TO BEGIN SOON

Construction of a new neuropsychiatric hospital for the treatment of former soldiers at Palo Alto will be begun in the near future. It was announced today, following the receipt here of news from Washington that the expenditure of $1,400,000 had been approved for such an institution. The new institution, it was pointed out, will replace the Public Health Service hospital which is now operating on the site in temporary buildings with a capacity of 350 beds.

The new hospital will be constructed either of brick or concrete and will provide for 1000 additional beds and the treatment of nervous and mental cases. The $1,400,000 for the Palo Alto institution is the last of the $10,000,000 appropriation voted by Congress last year for the establishment of soldier hospitals throughout the country. Credit for securing the money for the site is given to Senator Samuel Shortridge and Congressman Arthur Free.

tuberculosis and to organize public opinion in an effort to control and prevent the disease. During the years in which this work has been carried on sanatoria and other institutions to treat tuberculosis have been built in the United States at an expense of in the aggregate of approximately $150,000,000.

"In Alameda county we have sold more than 800,000 seals thus far in our annual sale. The people of Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and all other cities in the county have been prompt and generous in purchasing the Christmas Seals and unless this public demand for the stamps as the sale progresses, we are practically assured of selling the 2,000,000 seals we had planned on selling this year. This means that 1,200,000 more of the stamps must be sold between now and Christmas."

Noted Castle Burns; Loss Million Pounds

BRECHIN, Scotland, Dec. 9.—Kinnaird castle, home of Lord Southesk, which was recently destroyed by fire, was a historic fourteenth century structure and one of the finest examples of medieval gothic and Italian architecture in Great Britain.

There was a famous picture gallery of 170 old masters, many of which were burned. The library, only a small part of which has been saved, consisted of 15,000 volumes, comprising costly missals and some very valuable early Shakespeare editions. Some of the furniture destroyed dated from the early Scottish kings.

The loss is estimated at £1,000,000. Seal find their way home after swimming two or three thousand miles.

COLBURN TELLS WOMEN'S VALUE AS CIVIC WORKERS

"No Person in Public Life Can Be Representative of Any Sex," Is Declared.

Asserting that "no person in public life can be the representative of any sex" and that "women in public life should not feel they are the representatives of women only," Commissioner Frank Colburn, in an address before the Business and Professional Women's Club yesterday, made a brief survey of the work of women in municipal affairs and pointed out their value as civic workers.

The proportion of crimes committed by women, said Colburn, stood 620 out of 7650, and he asserted that the lessening of this proportion is greatly a matter for women social and municipal workers.

Colburn said in part:

"One of the mistakes made by some women who aspire to office is that they think they are to be the representatives of women only. No person in public life can be a representative of any sex. Women should not be placed in public office to represent women only, but they should realize that they represent all the people and that they must serve without partiality. Even men are human beings and citizens of a community, and until the relationship of equality in citizenship is established between the sexes women will not reach their full cycle of development in public life."

Bill Hart Confesses He Popped Question by Mail

When next Bill Hart elects to enact the role of the blushing human violet on the screen and hold off an infuriated gang of Western bandits while he flicks a brown paper cigarette into shape with one hand, he is likely to meet with a round of applause that rocks the rafters rather than the offensive and vindictive "razz."

This hypothetical situation will be due to the fact that Hart on his own admission is far from a brave, case-hardened "honore." In an interview given this morning in San Francisco Hart admits that he went to New York with the sole intention of proposing to Miss Winifred Westover, the present Mrs. Hart, and spent three weeks trying to pop the question, and finally left with the words unspoken on his lips.

If Hart's right arm had become incapacitated and his secretary had left him he would not be a benedict today. This he also admits in his statement that he proposed to Miss Westover through the unromantic medium of the mails.

COULDNT POP QUESTION.

"I got lonesome for her after her long stay abroad," said Hart, "and when she arrived home I popped out of Los Angeles for New York and called on her. I was all primed up to propose, but I just couldn't get the words out, some way. I stayed there in New York for three weeks trying to screw my courage up to the right pitch, but always I lacked the nerve. And then I went back to Los Angeles without having proposed."

Nine months and 15 per cent of the arrests made were of women; of 7650 persons arrested, for various crimes, 630 were women. The larger number of arrests were for vagrancy, drunkenness and violation of the traffic ordinance and state motor vehicle act.

"I stood the strain for a couple of weeks and then one day I sat down and wrote her a letter asking her to be my wife."

"And I chimed in Mrs. Hart," said "yes by wire."

From that point on things moved swiftly. Having overcome his stage fright, Hart became again the prepossessing, calm, analytical "bad man" of the films.

WEDDED IN "COTTAGE."

The wedding ceremony was performed in Hart's "cottage" in Los Angeles, the Episcopal service being read.

Miss Westover, like Hart, is a film personality. They met when appearing in the same company some three years ago and professional regard quickly resulted in mutual admiration. Miss Westover is a San Francisco girl, the daughter of Clyde Westover, newspaperman and artist.

The Harts are spending their honeymoon in San Francisco having arrived there directly after the ceremony two days ago.

Age of Citizenship Celebration Planned

A celebration in honor of the young men and women of the Progressive and Cole school districts who have reached the age of 21 during this year, will be presented in the Cole school by the citizens of those districts at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

A musical program will be one of the features of entertainment, and talks will be made by educational and civic workers and members of the city and county government. Fred Anderson, director of citizenship of the Oakland public schools, will be chairman.

Bobolinks make their migratory flights at night.

EX-CONVICT IS SLAIN IN FIGHT WITH OFFICERS

Wanted on Burglary Charge; Sacramento Police in Gun Battles.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 9.—Joe Howard, 35, was shot and instantly killed last night at Elk Grove, about 15 miles from this city, by Deputy Sheriff Al Johnson when he answered the officer's command to halt by drawing an automatic revolver. He was shot twice. Howard's arrest was sought on a charge of burglary. He is said by the officers to be an ex-convict, and recently completed a term in Folsom prison for burglarizing a store in Clarksburg. Three revolvers and a belt of cartridges were found strapped to the man's body.

John Murane also was shot through the right leg by Police Officer Jack Pierri last night. Murane and another man were suspected of a theft in the downtown district, and when Officer Pierri tried to arrest them they resisted. Murane's pal escaped.

Three bandits entered the Union roadhouse on the lower Stockton road, covering the proprietor with guns while the fourth awaited outside in an automobile and drove his pals away after they had secured the loot.

C. L. Bates, a laborer, recently arrived from Gage, Mont., was shot through the right leg on the river front in resisting a holdup. One hundred dollars were taken from him by the bandit, who escaped.

ASK THE TRIBUNE Bureau Information

"I have quite a lot of good thick sour cream on hand," writes TRIBUNE reader, "but do not wish to make butter of it. Could you give me recipes for a sour cream pie and cake or other uses, besides hotcakes, etc.?"

Prince of Wales cake (imitation fruit cake):

Two cups dark brown sugar, 1 cup butter, 2 cups sour milk, 2 level teaspoonfuls soda, yolks of 4 eggs beaten separately, 4 cups flour sifted with 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls soda, 4 tablespoonfuls molasses, 1 teaspoonful each cloves, ground cinnamon and nutmeg. Bake in 2 layers and spread between a filling made with 1/2 cup chopped nuts, 1/2 cup seeded raisins, 2 tablespoonfuls sweet cream. Cover with regular icing. Will keep for a long time in a cool place.

"Kindly inform me through your column if it is unlawful to sell goat milk to a neighbor without having it inspected," requests another reader. It is unlawful to do so. You must have a license. The price is 50 cents a quart or $2 a year. This license entitles you to have the milk inspected at the instance of her mother, who resides at Ogden, Utah. Examination showed many bruises on the body. It was said, and evidence was produced that on the evening of Mrs. Boyle's death a female voice was heard from her apartment crying, "Have mercy, you are killing me."

Beds, tables, chairs and stools are shown in Egyptian carvings as far back as 4000 B. C.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions to a general nature, except school or legal problems, debates, trade and firm names and queries as to the time of day. The Bureau is open every day, except Sunday, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. If answered by mail, the results must be enclosed. Quickest results can be obtained by telephoning to the bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature to solve ask the TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

PARK BOARD TO AID SPREAD OF HOLIDAY CHEER

At today's meeting of the Park Board it was unanimously voted to co-operate with The TRIBUNE-Low's State Theater Flying Squadron of Good Cheer, and to distribute greenery and Christmas berries to the jails, hospitals and charitable institutions in conjunction with the work of the squadron in spreading its message of cheer.

Heretofore the city has sent out each year, in truckloads, tons and tons of Christmas greenery to the institutions in the Eastbay district. On learning this year that The TRIBUNE, in conjunction with Low's State Theater, had arranged a systematic program of entertainment, the board decided to precede the entertainers with decorations, in order that the entertainment itself might be made more appropriate with the decorations, or more expressive of the Christmas spirit.

The circuit of entertainment will consist of acts from Low's State Theater, including Paul Ash and various local entertainment numbers that are now being engaged by The TRIBUNE. A complete list of the places to be visited by the flying squadron and the dates when they will appear will be published in The TRIBUNE at an early date.

POOLROOM MAN IS INDICTED AS WOMAN'S SLAYER

Gus Branch, Nevada City, Is Held Murderer of Mrs. Boyle of Truckee.

NEVADA CITY, Dec. 9. — Gus Branch, poolroom proprietor, has been indicted by the county grand jury, charging murder on November 9 of Mrs. Annie Boyle at Truckee, it became known today. The death certificate declared death was due to poison. Mrs. Boyle's body was exhumed at the instance of her mother, who resides at Ogden, Utah. Examination showed many bruises on the body. It was said, and evidence was produced that on the evening of Mrs. Boyle's death a female voice was heard from her apartment crying, "Have mercy, you are killing me."

School Women Will Discuss Tentative Plan

By EDNA B. KINARD.

There is a big project being considered by the School Women's Club of the city. Detail is at present being shrouded in secrecy, but the teachers are admitting that if they see their way to support the plan it will result in large measure to the cultural and educational development of the city. The important business of the meeting on Wednesday afternoon will concern itself with a discussion and possible adoption of the broad program and method of carrying it forward.

The discussion conference will be given attention at the Tuesday program, Dr. F. M. Russell of the University of California, who has followed his deliberations, addressing the school women and all of the public who have interest in the historic meeting of the nation. Musical numbers will be rendered by Miss Ethel Gibbs, Miss Gertrude Morgan and Miss Lucille Cleland. Miss Joyce Lobner is the club president.

Many fortune tellers and psychanalysts are being recruited from the membership to the corps of school women who will hold court in one of the attractive booths at the "Country Fair" of Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs, which opens Monday night in the Municipal Auditorium. A close cooperation exists between the teachers and mothers, who are equally interested in scholarship funds, nutrition classes and philanthropies which look out after the school child.

The Business and Professional Woman's Club will play tomorrow night at the first of a series of delightful affairs which the new Broadway clubrooms will accommodate and which are designed to be somewhat in the form of "Gentlemen's Night." A nickel dance from 9 p. m. to midnight will be the feature, although plenty of amusement will be afforded at side concessions. Past, present and future will be revealed in Sylvia's Wigwag. Coffee, sandwiches, candy and punch will be served in cozy corners. Grab bags will lure the curious. Mrs. Gladys E. Randollar is president of the club, which includes several scores of the well-known professional and business women of the city on its roll.

California Congress of Mothers, as represented in the executive board, will meet on Tuesday in the faculty room of the State Teachers' College in San Jose. Dr. W. W. Kemp, president of the college, and member of the advisory board of the congress, has interested himself actively in the work of the teachers' mothers' club, has extended the courtesy of the faculty room to the officers whenever they are in the Garden City. Mrs. Harry Ewing, president of the congress, who will welcome her associates to her home city, will preside as chairman.

San Jose women will be hostesses at the luncheon. A large delegation will motor from the bay cities to attend the Tuesday conference.

Potted plants will be the token from the Fremont High School Parent-Teacher Association to those of the membership who will attend the annual convention of the California Congress of Mothers in San Diego next May. The club, which has been created this week in the institution of a penny march. The children's pastime will be participated in by the mothers and teachers, the gifts to be as large or small as the donors make them.

To send Mrs. A. B. Thurston, president, and a companion delegate to the annual convention of the California Congress of Mothers in San Diego next May has already been decided upon by the club, which claims to be the largest high school parent-teacher chapter in the state. Not only will railroad fares and hotel bills be met, but the representatives will be expected to have all the extras which go with such an official trip. The club is launching a financial campaign to meet the expenses at once.

Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald, president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, and Dr. Marjorie Bertola, first vice-president, will be honored guests tomorrow at a luncheon which their club sisters will give at the Hotel Bellevue, San Francisco. A delegation of Berkeley leaders, headed by Mrs. George A. King, Alameda district president, will join the guests.

The last of a series of what parties which the Stonehurst Parent-Teacher Association has been sponsoring this season, will be given tomorrow night, to be given to the treasury, which takes care of the kindly deeds of the mothers.

Stonehurst gardens have been collected for the choice bulbs, plants and flowers which will stock the booth at the "Country Fair" of the Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs, opening Monday night in the Municipal Auditorium.

The principal and teachers in the Manganita school were entertained at the semi-annual luncheon on which the parent-teachers offered compliment last Tuesday. Mrs. L. P. Bolander, president, was assisted in arranging the December jubilee by Mrs. Robert Vance, Mrs. Stahl and Mrs. Cole.

The new Salvation Army Home which is being built on the eastern side of the city will be completed and ready for occupancy this month. Fruitvale Woman's club is planning to play impromptu Santa Claus to the institution and the members assure themselves a welcome in the shower of fruit, nuts, candy, decorative articles, clothing, etc. For program there will be a Christmas reading by Mrs. Grant D. Miller, chairman of literature in Alameda district C. F. W. C., and an address by one of the Salvation Army officials. A group of violin numbers will be rendered by Miss Mary Elizabeth Jump. Thursday, December 15, will be reserved on the clubwoman's calendar for the occasion.

CLOVIS WOMAN DIES.
CLOVIS, Dec. 9.—Mrs. Fannie Hoblett, age 76, wife of Joshua Hoblett, owner of the Hoblett hotel here, died yesterday.

Ex-Kaiser Injured While Chopping Wood

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The former Kaiser's head is now swathed in bandages and he has been obliged to abandon wood cutting for the present at his home at Doorn, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail. A chunk of wood flew up and struck him on the head, making a deep wound.

PAIN IN BACK?
If You Are a Sufferer Heed
This Advice

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—I wish to give to the world the benefit of the experience I have had with Dr.
Pierce's medicine. I took four bottles of the Favorite Prescription, and five of the Anker Tablets for my kidneys, and I must say no doctor has ever done me one-half the good I derived from the use of these medicines. I suffered with neuritis in my back for three years and it had disappeared and the kidney trouble, since Mrs. Helen Reed, 652 W. Belgrave Ave., (Huntington Park).

Seattle Police Nab Two As Highwaymen
SEATTLE, Dec. 9.—Police arrested two men, both 19 years old, after shooting one of them. The wounded man gave the name of Charles Myers of Birmingham, Ala., his companion that of Elmer Winters, Chicago. The two were said to have stolen a car after robbing a for-hire driver, who is in a precarious condition. Both men, according to the police, are wanted in Portland for an alleged assault on a taxi driver and robbery of two drug stores.

To clean rusty curtain pins, allow them to stand for a few minutes in a cupful of water to which a little ammonia has been added.

SOCIETY

MRS. ALFRED EDWARD DEDICKE, whose marriage to Captain Dedicke, U. S. A., at Genovese Castle at Mayen on the Rhine, was one of the brilliant military weddings in the American Colony last month.

Announcements of a brilliant military wedding at Mayen, Germany, came recently telling of the wedding of Miss Ruth Milward Deas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Blamyer Deas of San Francisco, and Captain Alfred Edward Dedicke, U. S. A., of the Fifth Infantry. The nuptial service was one of the most important in army circles in the Army of Occupation at Mayen, and the setting was the old mediaeval Genovese castle, on the Rhine, Saturday evening, November 5.

The bride, who was educated in Oahu College, Honolulu, but the last few years has made her home in the bay region, left last year for a visit with her brother, Captain Howard Deas, U. S. A., of the Fifth Infantry, where she met Captain Dedicke. Their marriage was the climax of the romance.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deas of 1229 San Antonio avenue, Alameda, and is a niece of Miss Charlotte Alston Deas of that city.

Captain Dedicke is a West Point graduate. The honeymoon is to be passed touring the countries of Europe, after which Captain Dedicke and his bride will return to this country to reside, following his orders to return to America for duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee Tilden will return from their honeymoon this week, and will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Corcoran, parents of the bride, after which they will take possession of their new home.

Miss Louise Park is to be the guest of honor tomorrow afternoon at the apartment of Mrs. Hobart Miller, who was Miss Doris Alderson. Miss Park is the betrothed of Miles Cantelero. Twenty intimate friends of the hostess will be guests.

A birthday party was given in honor of Mrs. J. Warner recently at her home on Twenty-seventh street. Among the guests were Mesdames F. Newman, L. Book, Lancaster, A. Smith, McCoy, Paynter, Davidson, Morgan, L. Mae Keys, Hurrell, O'Hara, and Mr. and Mrs. B. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. R. Warner and the Misses M. Warner and F. Selby.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur T. Gracey and their son, of Birmingham, England, are guests at Forest Hills Inn, Forest Hills, Long Island, and are expected here for the holidays, where they will be guests of Mrs. Gracey's father, Charles G. Yale, at his home in Linda Vista. Yale is head of the geological survey of California and consul-general in the English city.

Mrs. Charles Dunscomb was the guest of honor Wednesday at the luncheon given by Mrs. M. A. Preston, plans being laid for twelve of the near friends of the hostess. Chrysanthemums in the rose shades were used in the decorations.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Burlington Carlisle will entertain twelve friends at luncheon at her home in Claremont.

Monday evening, December 12, the annual dinner of the Berkeley chapter of the American Red Cross will be held at 6:15 o'clock at the Town and Gown clubhouse. Mrs. Henry Sanford, Mrs. Henry Martinez, Mrs. W. R. Patton and Miss Carol Day are the committee in charge of the affair. The annual meeting will be called at 6 o'clock.

Miss Horton's school on Perkins street will be the scene of a dancing party this evening and the annual Christmas dance will be attended by thirty couples. The dance will be held in Assembly Hall. Fire trees and greenery will be combined with many colored lights. Miss Frances Sherman, Miss Kirkline Smith and Miss Marjorie Mitchell head the committee of arrangements.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Margaret Le Barea, daughter of Dr. W. H. Le Barea of Glenview, Berkeley, and Captain Elliot Seaman, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Seaman of Henry street, is a surprise to their many friends about the bay. The marriage, which took place in Oakland last July, was not announced at that time because of the illness of the bride's father. Both young people attended the Berkeley high school and later were graduated from the University of California. The groom is continuing his dental studies at the Affiliated Colleges, where he is a prominent member of the Delta Sigma Delta and Chi Phi fraternities. For the present the couple will make their home with the bride's father at 2201 Glen avenue.

Suit Is Filed to Correct Bond Error

UTAH, Dec. 8.—Mendocino county has filed a friendly suit against the National City company, a bond-buying corporation, which recently purchased the $45,000 bond issue of the Hopland district, and the suit is brought as a means to straighten out minor irregularities.

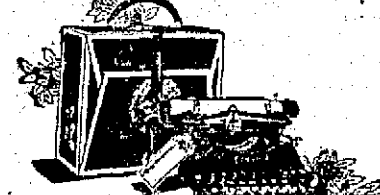

The suit is filed in the Superior court, and the Alpha Camp, No. 101, W. O. W.

During the past twenty-three years Evans has been affiliated with the S. F. O. T. railways as superintendent of painting and decorating departments. As a boy of 15 he came to the United States from Wales, settling in Oakland in 1894. His death followed an illness of three weeks.

FIRST GLOVES OF RABBIT SKIN ARE PUT ON DISPLAY

Guinea Pig Leather Also Is Exhibited at Pet Stock Auditorium Show.

The old nursery rhyme about getting a rabbit skin to wrap Baby Bunting in, has been literally realized following the opening of the pigeon, rabbit, bantam and guinea pig show in the Auditorium arena yesterday. Among the novel exhibits were the first gloves ever made on the Pacific coast from rabbit skins and the first commercial guinea pig leather. The gloves were exhibited by Jack Villar, San Jose rabbit fancier. He stated that he intended to have shoes made from rabbit skin, also. Guinea pig skins were also shown by Villar, who declared there is a possibility that they will be placed on the leather market as a commercial product in the future. Villar gave a lecture on the subject last night, dwelling on the future of rabbits and guinea pigs as leather producers.

The show opened yesterday with more than 2000 guinea pigs, bantams, pigeons and rabbits on exhibition. There were many fresh arrivals today from Arizona and these completed the exhibition.

Among the exhibits were included some of the world's rarest pigeons as well as some of the best specimens of the rabbit family ever seen on the Pacific coast. Twenty-five tumblers, the largest collection of this breed ever exhibited in the bay cities, was shown by an Oakland man, E. E. Quagley. Another extraordinary exhibit was a showing of 120 Maltese pigeons, whose exhibitors included Dr. G. E. Kleiman of Oakland, A. J. Schultz and N. C. Jorgensen of Oakland, Earl Brose of Fresno, and A. J. Coe of Lodi. Coe also exhibited two ice pigeons. There were several Satinets shown also. Half a dozen specimens of the rare Strasser pigeon from Austria, were also exhibited.

Record homers were exhibited by George F. Walker of San Carlos and A. W. Asvitt of Oakland. There were also Red Carnarvon and White Kings among the entries.

The leading rabbit exhibitors were F. C. Debb and Dr. J. F. Kitten, both of San Francisco. Flemish steels, grays and blacks imported from Europe were shown by Debb.

An exhibit of rabbit meat frozen in ice, tinned rabbit and guinea pig skins and other features were shown today and will be shown tomorrow. Tonight the Alameda County Bee

Marysville to Vote On $150,000 Bonds

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 9.—The city council has called a special election to vote on a bond issue for $150,000 for municipal improvements and incorporated the election with the general municipal election to be held January 11. Two propositions will be submitted, one for the bonding of the city for $50,000 for improving and beautifying Ellis lake, and the other for $100,000 for paving street intersections.

The show, which is described as one of the largest and most important ever held in this section, is being put on by the California Pigeon Club, the Western Rabbit Breeders' Association, the Golden Gate Cavy Club and the California Bantam Club. The show will continue until Sunday night, and will be open mornings, afternoons and evenings.

Pythian Official to Be Buried Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—The funeral of Herman Schaffner, for 35 years grand keeper of the records and seals of the domain of California, Knights of Pythias, will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from Druid's temple, 44 Page street, under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of California. Schaffner died yesterday following a brief illness. He was 71 years old. A widow, Mrs. Fredericka Schaffner, and two sons, Paul F. and Fred Schaffner, survive.

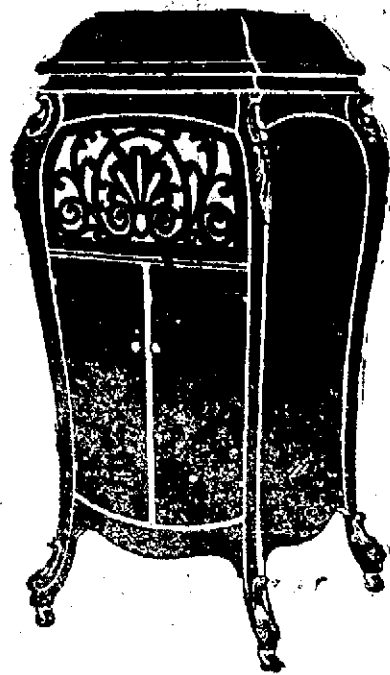

Schaffner was born in New York. He came to San Francisco 35 years ago. He was a past imperial prince of the dramatic order of the Knights of Khorsan and past grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias. Schaffner was a member of Golden West Lodge, No. 145, K. of P.

A WORLD TROUBLE PASSING

While the action of the British and Irish parliaments on the agreement for the settlement of the Irish question and the establishment of the Irish Free State is among the events of the future, the popular reception that has been given the pact appears to constitute a positive assurance that it will not be rejected by the legislative bodies. Assuming that ratification will be forthcoming as soon as the parliaments meet, the "treaty of peace" signed in the official home of Premier Lloyd George on Monday deserves to be counted among the largest achievements of the century.

Already the British government has begun to release from internment camps citizens of Ireland it had arrested as revolutionists and to withdraw its armed forces from the south of Ireland. This and other acts of good faith in compliance with the agreement is a sign that it entertains no doubt about the agreement being accepted.

With the settlement of this age-old quarrel between two races destined to dwell side by side, one of the most distressing inconsistencies of civilization is to pass. Instead of continual warfare and destructive quarrels there is to be peace between the neighbors, with mutual helpfulness and in time we must believe, mutual respect. If peace is benevolent the scars of conflict, however old, heal quickly.

It would be impossible to disguise the fact that the settlement of the Irish question brings the promise of as large benefit to the United States as it does to England and Ireland. There must soon pass away that large reservoir of hate which Ireland's animosity against England caused to be created in this country. When this ensues, the influences and outwash of this foreign conflict will no longer disturb the equilibrium of the American mind and confuse, as it has so long confused, projects of domestic legislation and the treatment of delicate international questions.

Politicians will have to abandon the exploitation of the Irish question in American public and official life, and a large section of American citizens of Irish origin will be able to look upon questions of concern to their adopted country through glasses uncolored by the bitterness brought from their native land. The atmosphere of our citizenship, of our moral and intellectual life, will speedily become clearer. We shall be able to see many things in a different and brighter light.

It is not yet known to whom the greater measure of credit for the settlement is due—to Mr. Lloyd George or to some one or all the Irish delegates. But more than likely there was a giving way on both sides, before the frightful spectre of what would happen if agreement failed. To whoever credit is due, let credit be given without stint.

THE NATION AT WORK

Preliminary compilations by the census bureau have been issued by the Department of Commerce bearing on the subject of employment in the United States. These figures cover conditions as of January, 1920, and may not represent the exact condition of today, but they provide a safe basis for calculations reflecting present conditions.

The total number of persons gainfully employed in 1920 was 41,699,192. This included employers, professional and other persons working on their own account and employees working for salaries or wages or their equivalent. Of all these persons gainfully employed in the United States last year, 33,059,793 were males and 8,549,399 were females. The males formed 81.3 per cent of the total male population and 78.2 per cent of the male population ten years of age and over. The female gainful workers formed 16.5 per cent of the total female population and 21.1 per cent of the female population ten years of age and over.

Regarding the male population of the country a creditable proportion of the total of ten years of age or over—78.2 per cent—is at some gainful occupation. All the workers, men and women, are earning an income of approximately $50,000,000,000 a year. A few more billions go to non-workers who have money at work for them. This is a large national income.

About one-sixth of the total income of the people of the United States is consumed in the operations of government, national, state and municipal. In other words, the income of one day out of every six goes through one channel or another to pay the cost of government. This would seem to justify greater attention on the part of all the people to the affairs of government and the activities of men who would destroy or disrupt government in order to further their individual fortunes.

Some believe and charge that government wastes a lot of its energy in politics; it consumes a much larger amount of energy and time in necessary efforts to combat the plots of politicians on the outside trying to get their unworthy hands on the machinery of government.

AMONG THE CASUALTIES

All who were related to the work of the recent war and everybody else with a fair knowledge of its outstanding episodes were deeply shocked and grieved to hear of the death a few days ago of Colonel Charles W. Whittlesey, leader of the famous "Lost Battalion" in the final drive of the Allies against the enemy. This valiant soldier jumped from the steamer Toloa en route to Cuba.

Colonel Whittlesey, with the men of his battalion, found himself surrounded by the enemy. When the Germans sent a note asking his surrender he sent them back the message, "Go to hell." He held out until a relief force arrived, straightened out the line, and saved his command from capture or annihilation.

The spirit of which Colonel Whittlesey gave expression was the typical American spirit on the battlefield. His was an inspiring episode and he deserved well the plaudits a nation gave to his heroism. Congress voted him a medal of honor, the highest reward for meritorious action in war. When the remains of the unknown soldier was brought home from the Argonne for burial in Arlington national cemetery, he was selected as one of the honorary pallbearers, a distinction that fell only to men who had proved their superior merit as soldiers.

Why did this man take his own life? Was the burden upon his spirit greater than his will could carry or throw off? From the statement of Mr. Robert F. Little, one of his law partners, who had a special insight into Colonel Whittlesey's troubles, it is possible to draw an answer. Says Mr. Little:

"You can sum it all up by saying that Colonel Whittlesey was a man engulfed in war. He had the finest mind I have ever known in a man of his age. With his whole being he hated war. He went in from a sense of duty. When the war was over he would have preferred never to have heard of it again. Yet because of his reputation he had to keep constantly in touch with the horrors of war. Disabled soldiers, mothers and fathers of the soldier dead, everybody with a problem growing out of the war, came to him, and he never turned them away. At all hours of the day and even at his home at night he was the counsellor and adviser of these troubled souls. He attended funerals, visited hospitals, visited fathers and mothers in their homes. He said not a word about all this, but I believe now that each incident was leaving another scar on his mind. I believe he was burning up inside."

If this is a correct statement of the case of Colonel Whittlesey, as it unquestionably is, the death of this brave man must be numbered among the casualties of war. Shell shock was one of the diseases of the war. Many who have had the best of care have not yet recovered from it. Many never will recover. Colonel Whittlesey did not have the best of care. His reputation and his tender solicitude for his former comrades rendered this impossible.

He was continually struck with the horrors of war, until finally, as his friend says, his spiritual self was so scarred and burned that he passed out of this life, slain by the tragic aftermath of war.

EUROPE'S MAJORITY OF WOMEN

At the outbreak of the war there were frequent and anxious references to the fact that there were a great many more women in Europe than men. England's majority of women was 1,330,000. Germany's 850,000. Russia's 700,000. Italy, Austria and France had each 500,000 more women than men. Portugal 250,000. Sweden 125,000. Denmark 80,000. and Holland 60,000. The Balkan States alone showed a slight majority of men.

The war has raised the majority of women from nearly five million to fifteen million. Germany now leads with an excess of 2,400,000, while England and Russia are not far behind. Disturbing as the situation is at present, it can hardly escape becoming more acute. It is the men rather than the women who are emigrating. The death rate among the wounded veterans is extremely high, and as long as birth records have been kept there have been twenty-one sons born in Europe for every twenty daughters. The figures would contradict the somewhat mystic theory frequently advanced that nature provides against extreme disproportions between the sexes and will again see to it that the natural order of things is preserved. Starting as the figures for Europe seem at first, closer examination reveals the fact that it is largely a city, as opposed to a country, problem. It is in London, Berlin and Paris that the women so greatly outnumber the men. Such problems as grow out of this disproportion have been serious in Sweden, for instance, since the days of Gustavus Adolphus and were never graver than at present. And yet the census of 1920 showed that there are counties in Sweden today which are densely populated, and still the men exceed the women in number.

Economics and transportation, rather than applied biology or nature, will come to Europe's aid. In 1920 there were four men in Wyoming to one woman. Today the population of Wyoming is 91,670 men and 54,295 women. Transportation was the chief factor in effecting the change. When the situation in Europe becomes as unnatural as it is intolerable it will be the women, rather than the men, who will cross the borders and sail the seas. It will be a part of the feminist movement.—New York Evening Post.

NOTES and COMMENT

Senator Johnson brings the news that President Harding is likely to come to California during the year 1922. It is some time since a President has been this way, barring the swing around the circle of former President Wilson, which was undertaken to persuade the public to accept his policies, and therefore did not give opportunity for the people to show their appreciation of the presidential presence.

The observance in the news accounts that no self-declared relative of the late Frank Kohl has appeared claiming a slice of his estate, has brought one out. A big estate is a great lure, and any one who can make any kind of a showing is sure to find legal support. This instance is especially fitting, as the bulk of the great fortune is walled to another than a relative.

Anybody who has had officially to do with the United States Land Office is familiar with the insistence of present buyers to make one of the officials a Registrar, instead of a "Register." The latter designation may carry all rules, but it is the one that the Federal government sanctions, and there isn't much use in demonstrating that it is error. Announcement of the appointment of a woman to be the Registrar of the San Francisco office brings the matter up.

The revolution in Guatemala will not surprise any one who has kept posted on the situation in that country. A president who was popular with the people was overthrown to make way for another, and as he was allowed to live it was to be expected that the time would come when he would get back at his enemies. It is not alone the Central American way, but the political way the world over.

Is this strike of meat cutters the last one that is to disturb the industrial life of the country? Other national efforts that have come to the verge of violence recently were called off at the last moment. It was largely because of the recognition that the people who were in a way to suffer but were not directly concerned would not stand it. The public was not directly and immediately affected in the strike, and hence it went to violence. But there is a well-defined spirit abroad that such violence over differences between employer and employee must cease.

The marriage of "Bill" Hart to a San Francisco girl will add to the popularity in this region of a film star who is noted for doing the right thing at just the right time. It is far to conclude that his well-known ability to discern the psychological moment for action stood him in hand in this considerable venture.

HE WAS A DECENT GUY

I'd rather have it said of me,
When his old journey's through,
That on my way I'd tried to be,
A friend to all I knew.
Than have it said I gathered gold
And then have voices fall
Because they knew when that was told
They'd really said it all.
I'll gladly pass along my way
When comes my time to die,
If all who know me here shall say
"He was a decent guy!"
I've heard men speak beside their dead
And noted what is often said,
By mourners in the gloom
I've heard high-sounding words of grief

HOLLAND'S EAST INDIES

"The Dutch East Indies—a great colonial empire which gives the Netherlands one of the biggest stakes of all those held by non-Asiatic nations in the Far East—might be considered as exerting the force which brought the world to know itself," says one of the bulletins issued by the National Geographic Society in regard to the lands that will probably be involved in the discussion of Far Eastern questions before the Washington Conference.

"Its splices, known only to have originated in a mysterious land to the east, spurred the imagination and cupidly as well as the appetite of Europe. They were the magnets that drew Vasco da Gama around Africa, Columbus to North America, and Cabral to Brazil, opening up the way to vast unknown regions. And the other voyages of exploration which this quest for the 'Spice Islands' initiated led eventually to the discovery of Australia, the third unknown continent whose discovery may be credited to the lure of condiments."

"The East Indies were of economic importance to Europe even when they were little more than a tradition. Their spices, trickling through Arabia to Venetian traders, were transmuted into the beauty and power of Venice. Later this wealth went to build up Lisbon at its greatest; and for the past few centuries it has been poured into Bruges and Amsterdam."

"The Dutch possessions in the Far East, unlike those of England, are concentrated in a single area. Many of the islands are small, but included in whole or in part are some of the largest islands in the world. Holland owns half of New Guinea, the largest island in outside polar waters; three-quarters of Borneo, second largest island; and all of Sumatra, fourth in size."

"From the latitude of central Burma to that of Tokyo, this great colonial empire of Holland stretches; largely below the equator, but in part above it. Though much of this area is sea, there is not a single mile of the three thousand from central New Guinea to the western tip of Sumatra in which a north and south line would not cut Dutch land. The breadth of the Dutch zone is nearly 1000 miles at its greatest and the land area is more than 771,000 square miles—sixty times that of The Netherlands. If this great archipelago were spread out in the western hemisphere it would extend from San Francisco across the United States and out in the Atlantic to the Bermudas, each of its larger islands covering groups of our states."

"Java, fifth in size of the Dutch islands, is probably best known, and for good reason. Enthusiasts of the

THE CASE OF MISS FURUTA

To the Editor of The Tribune:

It may be keenly regretted that the withdrawal of opposition to the appearance of Miss Furuta as honor speaker at the Oakland High school commencement leaves the school unpurged of the dishonest that disfigure it. The president of the students, Mr. Elmer Masten, announced that opposition to the young lady was withdrawn, not because it was wrong, unethical, ill-mannered and disgraceful, but to "avoid international complications."

This is an excuse simply to save his face. Miss Furuta was born in Oakland. She is a citizen of the United States. At the end of her non-age she can vote, do jury duty and run for office. In her case no international issue nor complication was possible.

To pretend otherwise is to pretend a patriotic motive to hide responsibility for an act that had no excuse, as it was un-American and lacked any element of decency and fairness. The taxpayers who support that school look to its pupils to effectually remove the stain they have put upon it. JNO. P. IRISII, Oakland, December 7.

FACTS ABOUT MEXICAN OIL

Mexico is yet young as an oil producing country, but in ten years her natural advantages have put her ahead of every other nation except the United States among the countries that furnish the world's supply of petroleum.
Since 1910 the growth in Mexican oil production has been amazing. It jumped to 12,000,000 barrels in 1911. In 1920 it reached 163,000,000 barrels, or nearly 24 per cent of the world's 688,000,000 barrels production in that year.

By 1920 the world's appetite for oil had more than doubled. The United States still maintained close to its 70 per cent proportion of the total, but the foreign fields other than Mexico dropped to a meager 6 per cent of the total supply.

Since we cannot control the oil production of other parts of the world it is to our interest that Mexico should furnish as large a share of the oil supply as possible, to relieve the diat on our own walls. Anything that checks oil production in Mexico adds directly to the demand on our own fields and thus shortens their life.

Salt water drowned out the famous Potrero del Llano well in Mexico in 1918 after it had produced 110,000,000 barrels of oil in eight years. This would have been a disaster for Mexico more than a granite monolith suitably commemorating such a stupendous producer had it not been that other wells in the same neighborhood and in pools further removed also went to salt water. The life of the Mexican oil fields appeared to be threatened; one investigator even went so far as to limit the duration of existing pools to 1600 days from July 21, 1921, which would be to December 1, 1924. This would be a disaster for Mexico and not much less a misfortune for this country.

Roy H. Flamman, a department of commerce expert on Mexican oil production, in an analysis of Mexico's probable oil producing capacity in future years, allays some of the fears concerning the salt water menace. He shows that the Mexican output has not been reduced by the salt water invasion. Now wells are brought in faster than old ones are exhausted.

It is estimated that out of 148,000,000 acres of prospective oil bearing land only 10,000,000 have been investigated. Vast tracts where oil seepage gives almost certain indication of subsoil pools have not yet been developed. Mr. Flamman says as a conservative estimate that Mexico could produce 600,000,000 barrels of oil a year, or nearly four times the 1920 output, and the United States Geological Survey is authority for the estimate that Mexican oil reserves are sufficiently large to last forty-five years at the 1920 rate of export.—New York Herald.

A WORLD TROUBLE PASSING

While the action of the British and Irish parliaments on the agreement for the settlement of the Irish question and the establishment of the Irish Free State is among the events of the future, the popular reception that has been given the pact appears to constitute a positive assurance that it will not be rejected by the legislative bodies. Assuming that ratification will be forthcoming as soon as the parliaments meet, the "treaty of peace" signed in the official home of Premier Lloyd George on Monday deserves to be counted among the largest achievements of the century.

Already the British government has begun to release from internment camps citizens of Ireland it had arrested as revolutionists and to withdraw its armed forces from the south of Ireland. This and other acts of good faith in compliance with the agreement is a sign that it entertains no doubt about the agreement being accepted.

With the settlement of this age old quarrel between two races destined to dwell side by side, one of the most distressing inconsistencies of civilization is to pass. Instead of continual warfare and destructive quarrels there is to be peace between the neighbors, with mutual helpfulness and in time, we must believe, mutual respect. If peace is benevolent the scars of conflict, however old, heal quickly.

It would be impossible to disguise the fact that the settlement of the Irish question brings the promise of as large benefit to the United States as it does to England and Ireland. There must soon pass away that large reservoir of hate which Ireland's animosity against England caused to be created in this country. When this ensues, the influences and outwash of this foreign conflict will no longer disturb the equanimity of the American mind and confuse, as it has so long confused, projects of domestic legislation and the treatment of delicate international questions.

Politicians will have to abandon the exploitation of the Irish question in American public and official life, and a large section of American citizens of Irish origin will be able to look upon questions of concern to their adopted country through glasses uncolored by the bitterness brought from their native land. The atmosphere of our citizenship, of our moral and intellectual life, will speedily become clearer. We shall be able to see many things in a different and brighter light.

It is not yet known to whom the greater measure of credit for the settlement is due—to Mr. Lloyd George or to some one or all the Irish delegates. But more than likely there was a giving way on both sides, before the frightful spectre of what would happen if agreement failed. To whoever credit is due, let credit be given without stint.

THE NATION AT WORK.

Preliminary compilations by the census bureau have been issued by the Department of Commerce bearing on the subject of employment in the United States. These figures cover conditions as of January, 1920, and may not represent the exact condition of today, but they provide a safe basis for calculations reflecting present conditions.

The total number of persons gainfully employed in 1920 was 41,609,192. This included employers, professional and other persons working on their own account and employees working for salaries or wages or their equivalent. Of all these persons gainfully employed in the United States last year, 38,039,793 were males and 8,549,399 were females. The males formed 91.3 per cent of the total male population and 78.2 per cent of the male population ten years of age and over. The female gainful workers formed 16.5 per cent of the total female population and 21.1 per cent of the female population ten years of age and over.

Regarding the male population of the country a creditable proportion of the total of ten years of age and over—78.2 per cent—is at some gainful occupation. All the workers, men and women, are earning an income of approximately $39,000,000,000 a year. A few more billions go to non-workers who have money at work for them. This is a large national income.

About one-sixth of the total income of the people of the United States is consumed in the operations of government, national, state and municipal. In other words, the income of one day out of every six goes through one channel or another to pay the cost of government. This would seem to justify greater attention on the part of all the people to the affairs of government and the activities of men who would destroy or disrupt government in order to further their individual fortunes.

Some believe and charge that government wastes a lot of its energy in politics; it consumes a much larger amount of energy and time in necessary efforts to combat the plots of politicians on the outside trying to get their unworthy hands on the machinery of government.

AMONG THE CASUALTIES.

All who were related to the work of the recent war and everybody else with a fair knowledge of its outstanding episodes were deeply shocked and grieved to hear of the death a few days ago of Colonel Charles W. Whittlesey, leader of the famous "Lost Battalion" in the final drive of the Allies against the enemy. This valiant soldier jumped from the steamer Tolon, en route to Cuba.

Colonel Whittlesey, with the men of his battalion, found himself surrounded by the enemy. When the Germans sent a note asking his surrender he sent them back the message, "Go to hell." He held out until a relief force arrived, straightened out the line, and saved his command from capture or annihilation.

The spirit of which Colonel Whittlesey gave expression was the typical American spirit on the battlefield. His was an inspiring episode and he deserved well the plaudits a nation gave to his heroism. Congress voted him a medal of honor, the highest reward for meritorious action in war. When the remains of the unknown soldier was brought home from the Argonne for burial in Arlington national cemetery, he was selected as one of the honorary pallbearers, a distinction that fell only to men who had proved their superior merit as soldiers.

Why did this man take his own life? Was the burden upon his spirit greater than his will could carry or throw off? From the statement of Mr. Robert F. Little, one of his law partners, who had a special insight into Colonel Whittlesey's troubles, it is possible to draw an answer. Says Mr. Little:

"You can sum it all up by saying that Colonel Whittlesey was a man engulfed in war. He had the finest mind I have ever known in a man of his age. With his whole being he hated war. He went in from a sense of duty. When the war was over he would have preferred never to have heard of it again. Yet because of his reputation he had to keep constantly in touch with the horrors of war. Disabled soldiers, mothers and fathers of the soldier dead, everybody with a problem growing out of the war, came to him, and he never turned them away. At all hours of the day and even at his home at night he was the counsellor and adviser of these troubled souls. He attended funerals, visited hospitals, visited fathers and mothers in their homes. He said not a word about all this, but I believe now that each incident was leaving another scar on his mind. I believe he was burning up inside."

If this is a correct statement of the case of Colonel Whittlesey, as it unquestionably is, the death of this brave man must be numbered among the casualties of war. Shell shock was one of the diseases of the war. Many who have had the best of care have not yet recovered from it. Many never will recover. Colonel Whittlesey did not have the best of care. His reputation and his tender solicitude for his former comrades rendered this impossible.

He was continually struck with the horrors of war, until finally, as his friend says, his spiritual self was so scarred and burned that he passed out of this life, slain by the tragic aftermath of war.

EUROPE'S MAJORITY OF WOMEN.

At the outbreak of the war there were frequent and anxious references to the fact that there were a great many more women in Europe than men. England's majority of women was 1,330,000, Germany's 850,000, Russia's 700,000, Italy, Austria, and France had each 500,000 more women than men, Portugal 250,000, Sweden 135,000, Denmark 80,000, and Holland 60,000. The Balkan States alone showed a slight majority of men.

The war has raised the majority of women from nearly five million to fifteen million. Germany now leads with an excess of 2,300,000, while England and Russia are not far behind. Disturbing as the situation is at present, it can hardly escape becoming more acute. It is the men rather than the women who are emigrating. The death rate among the wounded veterans is extremely high, and as long as birth records have been kept there have been twenty-one sons born in Europe for every twenty daughters. The figures would contradict the somewhat mystic theory frequently advanced that nature provides against extreme disproportions between the sexes and will again seek to that the natural order of things is preserved.

Starting as the figures for Europe seem at first, closer examination reveals the fact that it is largely a city, as opposed to a country, problem. It is in London, Berlin, and Paris that the women so greatly outnumber the men. Such problems as grow out of this disproportion have been serious in Sweden, for instance, since the days of Gustavus Adolphus and were never graver than at present. And yet the census of 1920 showed that there are counties in Sweden today which are densely populated, and still the men exceed the women in number.

Economics and transportation, rather than applied biology or nature, will come to Europe's aid. In 1870 there were 10 men in Wyoming to one woman. Today the population of Wyoming is 84,000 and 44,295 women. Transportation was the chief factor in effecting the change. When the situation in Europe becomes so unnatural as to be intolerable it will be the women, rather than the men, who will cross the borders and sail the seas. It will be a part of the feminist movement.—New York Evening Post.

It was largely believed because of the recognition that the people who were in a way to suffer but who were not directly concerned would not stand it. The public was not directly and immediately affected in this imbroglio, and hence it went to violence. But there is a well-defined spirit abroad that such violence over differences between employer and employee must cease.

The marriage of "Bill" Hart to a San Francisco girl will add to the popularity in this region of a film star who is noted for doing the right thing at just the right time. It is far to conclude that his well-known ability to discern the psychological moment for action stood him in hand in this considerable venture.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

California fruits are on the breakfast tables of England. The shipping associations are learning how to send fruits on long journeys over the seas so that they may reach their destination in splendid condition. Now members of the California Fruit Exchange are financing a $2,000,000 corporation to construct a line of refrigerated ships for the North Atlantic trade.—Los Angeles Times.

Four truck loads of supplies and nine mechanics were taken from Mare Island Saturday and yesterday to aid those attempting to salvage the destroyer DeLong which went ashore south of San Francisco last week. The contingent is the first to go and additional workmen and supplies will probably be sent early this week.—Vallejo Chronicle.

A 14-year-old Monterey boy, home sick for his mother who was in Oakland, was taken to a relative who was ill, took his father's car and "beat it" for the bay city. Pa. went after him and brought him back, but he ought not to be too hard on the boy. It is not often that youths of that age will run away to be with their mothers.—Watsonville Register.

Orders have been issued for the 13th destroyer division, including the Lamberton, Radford, Montgomery, Broese, Gamble and Ramsay, plus the Gillis, squadron leader, to sail from San Francisco January 15 for the Philippines. The division will leave San Diego for Mare Island navy yard immediately after Christmas for ammunition and stores.—Vallejo News.

HITTING ON ALL FOUR.

JUST FOLKS. By EDGAR A. GUEST

HE WAS A DECENT GUY

I'd rather have it said of me,
When his old journey's through,
That on my way I'd tried to be,
A friend to all I knew,
Than have it said I gathered gold
And then have voices fall
Because they knew when that was told.
They'd really said it all
I'll gladly pass along my way
When comes my time to die,
If all who knew me here shall say
"He was a decent guy!"
I've heard men speak beside their dead
I've stood in many a room
And noted what is often said,
By mourners in the gloom
I've heard high-sounding words of grief

HOLLAND'S EAST INDIES

"The Dutch East Indies—a great colonial empire which gives the Netherlands one of the biggest stakes of all those held by non-Asiatic nations in the Far East—might be considered as exerting the force which brought the world to know itself," says one of the bulletins issued by the National Geographical Society in regard to the lands that will probably be involved in the discussion of Far Eastern questions before the Washington Conference.

The Indies, known only to have originated in a mysterious land to the east, spurred the imagination and cupidity as well as the appetite of Europe. They were the magnets that drew Vasco da Gama around Africa, Columbus to North America, and Cabral to Brazil, opening up the way to vast unknown regions. And the other voyages of exploration which this quest for the "Spice Islands" initiated led eventually to the discovery of Australia, the third unknown continent whose discovery may be credited to the lure of condiments.

"The East Indies were of economic importance to Europe even when they were little more than a tradition. Their spices, trickling through Arabia to Venetian traders, were transmitted into the beauty and power of Venice. Later this wealth went to build up Lisbon at its greatest; and for the past few centuries it has been poured into Bruges and Amsterdam."

"The Dutch possessions in the Far East, unlike those of England, are concentrated in a single area. Many of the islands are small, but included in whole or in part are some of the largest islands in the world. Holland owns half of New Guinea, the largest island in outside polar waters; three-quarters of Borneo, second largest island; and all of Sumatra, fourth in size.

"From the latitude of central Burma to that of Tokyo, this great colonial empire of Holland stretches; largely below the equator, but in part above it. Though much of this area is sea, there is not a single mile of the three thousand from central New Guinea to the western tip of Sumatra in which Dutch land. The breadth of the Dutch zone is nearly 1000 miles at its greatest and the land area is more than 771,000 square miles—sixty times that of The Netherlands. If this great archipelago were spread out in the western hemisphere it would extend from San Francisco across the United States and out in the Atlantic to Bermuda, each of its larger islands covering groups of our states.

"Java, fifth in size of the Dutch islands, is probably best known, and for good reason. Enthusiastic observers have called it 'the garden spot of the world.' Its soil is constantly enriched by active volcanoes, it is well watered, and four out of every five acres of its surface are cultivated. Even mountain peaks 10,000 feet high are graced by unbroken fields up to half their height, above which forests still hold sway. "Java, with its 50,000 square miles of area, has a population of about 35,000,000—one-third that of the United States. It is seventy times as large. Compared with other geographical units of its size, it is probably the most populous region in the world. Most of the inhabitants live in villages. Although it has only four cities as large or larger than Reading, Pa., the density of population for the island as a whole is close to 700 per square mile—greater than that of Belgium, the most crowded country in Europe, or Shanghai, the most heavily populated province in China.

THE CASE OF MISS PURITA.

To the Editor of The Tribune:

It may be keenly regretted that the withdrawal of opposition to the appearance of Miss Purita as honor speaker at the Oakland High school commencement leaves the school unpurged of the dishonor that disgraces it. The president of the students, Mr. Hilmer Munster, announces that opposition to the young lady was withdrawn, not because it was wrong, unethical, ill-mannered and disgraceful, but to "avoid international complications."

This is an excuse simply to save his face. Miss Purita was born in Oakland. She is a citizen of the United States. At the end of her non-age she can vote, do jury duty and run for office. In her case no international issue nor complication was possible.

To pretend otherwise is to pretend a patriotic motive to hide responsibility for an act that had no excuse as it was un-American and lacked any element of decency and fairness. The taxpayers who support that school look to its pupils to effectively remove the stain they have put upon it. JNO. P. IRISTI, Oakland, December 7.

Nicholish Affection.
A colored couple appeared before a Virginia minister and asked to be married. The man was in a considerably muddled state. The minister said to the woman, "I won't perform this ceremony. 'I'm in a bit of a boss' she quipped. 'Amn' do license all right? An' 'is of age.'"

"Yes, but that man is drunk. Take him away and come back again." Several days later the couple again presented themselves, the man once more obviously intoxicated.

"See here, I told you I wouldn't marry you when this man was drunk," the minister said sternly. "Don't you come back here till he's sober."

"Well, you see, suh," the woman replied apologetically, "do trufe is dat he won't come less'n he's lit up."—Everybody's Magazine for December.

FACTS ABOUT MEXICAN OIL.

Mexico is yet young as an oil producing country, but in ten years her natural advantages have put her ahead of every other nation except the United States among the countries that furnish the world's supply of petroleum.

Since 1910 the growth in Mexican oil production has been amazing. It jumped to 12,000,000 barrels in 1911. In 1920 it reached 163,000,000 barrels, or nearly 24 per cent of the world's 638,000,000 barrels production in that year.

By 1920 the world's appetite for oil had more than doubled. The United States still maintained close to its 70 per cent proportion of the total, but the foreign fields other than Mexico dropped to a meager 5 per cent of the total supply.

Since we cannot control the oil production in other parts of the world it is to our interest that Mexico should furnish as large a share of the oil supply as possible, to relieve the diet on our own wells. Anything that checks oil production in Mexico adds directly to the demand on our own fields and thus shortens their life.

Salt water dripped out the famous Potrero del Llano well in Mexico in 1918 after it had produced 110,000,000 barrels of oil in eight years. This would have called for nothing more than a granite monolith suitably commemorating such a stupendous producer had it not been that other wells in the same neighborhood and in pools further removed also went to salt water. The life of the Mexican oil fields appeared to be threatened; one investigator even went so far as to limit the duration of existing pools to 100 days from July 21, 1921, which would be to December 1, 1924. This would be a disaster for Mexico and not much less a misfortune for this country.

Roy T. Flamm, a department of commerce expert on Mexican oil production, in an analysis of Mexico's probable oil producing capacity in future years, allays some of the fears concerning the salt water menace. He shows that the Mexican oil fields have not been reached by the salt water invasion. Now wells are brought in faster than old ones are exhausted.

It is estimated that out of 148,000,000 acres of prospective oil bearing land only 10,000,000 have been investigated. Vast tracts within oil seepage gives almost certain indication of subsoil pools have not yet been developed. Mr. Flamm says as a conservative estimate that Mexico could produce 800,000,000 barrels of oil a year, or nearly four times the 1920 output, and the United States Geological Survey is authoritative for the estimate that Mexican oil reserves are sufficiently large to last forty-five years at the 1920 rate of export.—New York Herald.

Residents of Street Seek To Regain Name 'Walnut'

A delegation of residents of Community street, formerly Walnut street, today appeared before the city council with a petition that the street be returned to its old name, Walnut. The council, however, has no objection to the name change, but the matter will be referred to the commissioner of streets.

"We changed the name at the request of the postoffice," explained City Engineer George Mattis. "Walnut avenue has been confused with Walnut street, and as the former had the larger number of residents, we let them keep the name."

Miss A. R. Deekwith, leading the petitioners, asserted, however, that the residents objected to the name of "Community," named after the Elmhurst Community Club, which, she said, many residents of the street do not belong to.

"Have you any objections to naming it after some boy in France?" asked Commissioner Baucus.

"The citizens had no particular objection, but prefer the name of Walnut. They will discuss it later."

The council ordered the city engineer to rescind proceedings started in 1906 to cut Forty-fifth street through from Telegraph to Shattuck avenues. There is a new movement afoot to cut this street, and the old proceedings might nullify the new ones.

A report of the public pound for November shows that 127 dogs, 6 cattle and 32 dead cats have been collected.

ZEAL SHOWN AS EDUCATION WEEK CLOSES

That Education Week, which opened last Monday with a national observance, has been a great success and will do much toward improving the school system is the belief of city and county educators. Education week will close tomorrow afternoon.

Throughout the week all of the city's schools have been open to the public and have been visited by thousands of persons who wished to become more familiar with the school system. Late today it was estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 visitors had visited the various buildings.

Oakland's schools observed the week by presenting special programs. The key note of the observance was "good citizenship" and "Americanization," and "flying squadrons," made up of members of the American Legion, toured the city and county and spoke on the two subjects.

Hundreds of parents of children attending the Franklin school visited the building today and participated in the celebrating of Parents' Day, which was one of the features of that school's observance of Education Week.

Yesterday Technical High school was open to the public and many attended. A debate was conducted in the morning and in the afternoon "The Bohemian Girl" was presented in the auditorium. The opera will be repeated this evening.

At the Jefferson school, the pupils played a scene from "Evangeline" and an American Legion man talked on "Americanization."

Tonight at the McChesney school moving pictures will be shown and Miss Mohr of the Farmers and Merchants bank will address the pupils. The school will also hear a lecture by a member of the Legion.

Autos Barred at Lakeside So All May Watch Ducks

No automobiles will park along the famous "duck fence" at Lakeside park hereafter. Workmen today placed white lines and "No Parking" signs along the banned area.

The action, according to Superintendent Kerfoot of the park department, is the result of continued crowding of the fence by machines, making it almost impossible for pedestrians to get there and watch the ducks.

"They have been packing almost end to end and staying sometimes for hours," says Kerfoot. "Hereafter there will be no more parking there. Folks can leave their machines somewhere else and then join the pedestrians."

It is announced that the first canvasback ducks of the season have arrived at the lake. This species has been late in arriving, and park officials were wondering what happened to them.

Kerfoot now tells a story of a friend of his who took some visitors to the lake and showed the ducks. The visitors were about to start for New York on a Thursday. It was then Wednesday.

"You had your car stay over," boasted the Oaklander. "On Sunday days we have duck shoots. People come over here from the city, and stay all night and watch the ducks."

"That's what I'll do," said the visitors' guest at the duck fence. "I'll stay over till Saturday."

The Oaklander has now ceased telling any more of these stories.

Mayor Rolph to Address San Jose Meeting From Fairmont Station in S. F.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 9.—Mayor James D. Rolph of San Francisco, in San Francisco, will address 300 teachers of San Jose, in San Jose, next Tuesday afternoon in conjunction with American education week, according to announcement here today.

Can't be done? Oh, yes! Very simple. Wireless. The long distance address will be one of the most unusual features of the American education week and will establish a new precedent for the city.

Mayor Rolph will speak into the microphone at the Fairmont station in San Francisco at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, while the 300 and more San Jose teachers will listen to his message on education through the wireless radio apparatus recently installed at the Jefferson school.

The teachers will assemble in the auditorium of the Jefferson school, in San Jose, at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Mayor F. Coolidge, who today delivered a letter from Mayor Rolph, at the Jefferson school, will perhaps the only elementary school radio in operation in this part of the country and was recently installed to the school by a local philanthropist.

Numerous other features are under way here in conjunction with American education week, the school authorities, cooperating with the American Legion and a civic committee in carrying out an extensive program in line with those being conducted elsewhere.

Val Street Bomb
Suspect Has Alibi

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 9.—The latest attempt to fix the blame for the Val street bomb outrage of September 1920, "lived" today when the Stine, a Bulgarian hotel clerk, testified last night following receipt of the police of a mysterious note, established an alibi.

At the time of the explosion Stine was doing a "strong man" act with a rival company appearing at the K Star Ben festivities in Omaha, he testified. Police believe his story but a still holding him, pending further information.

No trace of the mysterious sender of the note which caused Stine's arrest has been found.

Here is how the plan works: Ten TRIBUNE subscription receipt numbers will be published every day in our Christmas Tree Prize List. Each one of these lucky numbers will entitle the holder of the same to a valuable prize.

Absolutely Free—no obligation. These subscription receipt lucky numbers will be selected every day at random from the TRIBUNE subscription receipts that are issued during this month, beginning with December 1, 1921, by the Circulation Department, at our main office, branch offices, and by our subscription collectors who call regularly at the homes of TRIBUNE subscribers in Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda. Every prize will be worth while, the prizes will vary every day—they will be of interest and value to man, woman and child. So when you pay your TRIBUNE subscription bill, remember the number of your receipt—and watch THE TRIBUNE Subscription Christmas Tree Prize List every day from now on.

Your receipt number may appear once—or a dozen times—if you are lucky—so do not overlook checking up the list a single day.

College Chief Tells of Visit To Conference

SAN JOSE, Dec. 9.—Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the local College of Pacific, last night addressed the members of the Laymen's League of the Unitarian church here, dealing with the international disarmament conference now under way in Washington. A large crowd gathered to listen to the speaker, the public having also been invited to attend.

Dr. Knoles spoke from first hand information, having been privileged to attend the opening sessions of the conference, particularly the one at which Secretary of State Hughes delivered his statement concerning America's suggested program.

The speaker stated that he had been "profoundly impressed" by the "great earnestness" of the men representing the various nations at the conference, declaring this to be a "most hopeful sign."

"One cannot help but know," stated Dr. Knoles, "that those men are in deadly earnest in their task and it helps us to feel that they will never desert the conference table until their task is thoroughly and satisfactorily completed."

CROSSED WIRES START BLAZE IN CONCRETE PLANT

Second Fire in Day at Santa Clara Causes $5000 Damage.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 9.—Crossed wires are blamed today for a fire which last night partially destroyed one building of the Merritt Concrete Pipe company at Santa Clara, causing damage estimated at about $5000.

The fire, starting at 10 o'clock, also caused considerable damage to valuable machinery in the plant, while water from the fire apparatus added to the damage. A large quantity of cement in the building suffered from the flames.

The fire was the second in Santa Clara within a period of a few hours yesterday, the department having been called to the Sodality club house at 12 o'clock, and Lexington streets early in the afternoon, there to extinguish a fire which had started in the roof of the building. The blaze was quickly put out and little damage resulted.

OXYGEN ORDER FILLED QUICKLY BY AIRPLANE

EMERYVILLE, Dec. 9.—An emergency order for oxygen came from the Presidio to the Air Products Company today and was filled early this afternoon in record time. A large De Havilland plane flew over from San Francisco and landed at Durant Field. Under the direction of E. L. Webb, superintendent of the Air Products company, the oxygen was taken from the plant of the company to Durant field. There were two tanks containing 200 cubic feet of oxygen. Ordinarily the oxygen is carried across the bay by boat. It was necessary to haul the tanks to Durant field as it was impossible for the large plane to land on the grounds occupied by the air products company's plant.

Blankets Presented To Football Eleven

BERKELEY, Dec. 9.—Seventeen scarlet and yellow blankets were presented to members of the Berkeley high school football team yesterday noon by the Berkeley Lions' club at a luncheon at the Hotel Whitecotton.

The members of the football team were the invited guests of the club and the banquet room of the Hotel Whitecotton was appropriately decorated with the Berkeley high colors.

The high school team is to play Palo Alto for the northern coast championship tomorrow on California field. The blankets were given by the Lions club in appreciation of the wonderful record of teamwork and showmanship that Berkeley business men are behind them.

J. H. Hildebrand, professor of chemistry at the University of California, was the main speaker at the meeting of the committee which met last night to plan the chemical research to everyday life.

Sunday Schools of County Will Confer
Leaders and teachers of the Young People's Division of the Alameda County Sunday School Association, will hold a conference tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the First Baptist church. C. S. Colyar, division superintendent, will preside.

Rev. Lloyd J. B. Taber, S. Franklin Mack, C. R. Fisher and Miss Edith Clary will speak on phases of religious education. The address of the afternoon will be made by Rev. W. A. Brown of Chicago, a representative of the International Sunday School Association.

Dinner will be served at 5 p. m. and the evening will be given over to addresses by Rev. Herbert Francis Evans, Prof. B. M. Woods, C. H. Fisher and Rev. Brown.

MAN ATHEIST, WIFE SAYS.
Alleging that her husband caused her much mental suffering by "atheistic scoffing at all religious beliefs and views," particularly those of his wife, Mrs. Mary Bond, today filed suit for divorce from William R. Bond of Oakland. The complaint, which was filed by Attorney Rudolph Hatfield on behalf of Mrs. Bond, alleges cruelty and desertion.

VOLUNTEERS GET BUSY ON PROJECT FOR AUDITORIUM

Daughters of Veterans Open Campaign for Great War Memorial.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 9.—Volunteer workers are at work today in the city hall here, preparing sample ballots, addressing envelopes and doing other jobs in connection with the holding here December 27 of the special bond election at which the people will decide the fate of a half million dollar memorial auditorium.

Members of the Daughters of Veterans organization were at work today, and tomorrow another shift of volunteer workers are expected to be "on deck" for the work. The women have been pressed into service at the request of leaders of the memorial auditorium drive. The election is to be carried out without expense to the city as a result of the civic interest displayed by various individuals and organizations.

The sample ballots will be mailed out some time next week, according to City Clerk John J. Lynch, who is supervising the work of the volunteer workers today. He stated incidentally that practically all the election jobs have been filled without cost to the city.

BOY SCOUT, 12, WILL GET MEDAL AS HERO AWARD

BERKELEY, Dec. 9.—Recognition from the National Court of Honor of Boy Scouts for saving the life of another scout will be paid tonight to Marlin Gerard, 12 years old, 2201 Los Angeles avenue, at a public meeting of the Berkeley Scout Court of Honor to be held in the council chamber at the city hall.

Young Gerard saved the life of Farrington Tweedy of Troop 18, Berkeley Scouts, when the latter became helpless in the water in private lake on the estate of R. N. Burgess in Contra Costa county on July 4 of this year.

A bronze medal will be presented to him tonight by Charles Keeler, head of the Berkeley Scout council, in behalf of Daniel C. Beard, chairman of the National Court of Honor.

Divorced Man Jailed For Alimony Neglect
Michael Rapp, charged with failure to pay alimony, must go to jail until he gives his wife, Mrs. Edna Rapp, $150, Superior Judge T. W. Harris ruled today. Deputy District Attorney Wittschen, representing the wife, brought out the fact that since August of this year Rapp paid but $8.50 toward the support of his divorced wife and his minor child.

In his defense Rapp stated that he had purchased an overcoat recently for the first time in sixteen years.

Man Strikes Wife; Sentenced to Jail
John Quintell was sentenced today by Police Judge Tyrrell to serve ten days in the city prison on a charge of striking his wife. He was arrested on the complaint of his wife, Mrs. Rose Quintell, 2312 Frederick street, who said he had struck her in the face following an argument.

Navy Airplane Falls; Machinist Mate Dies

BY UNITED PRESS

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 9.—A navy airplane, driven by Ensign Joseph C. Cline, crashed at North Island, at noon today, killing Myron T. McLean, aviation chief machinist's mate, the passenger, and seriously injuring the pilot.

Starting from the Oakland high school on Eleventh street, the line of march will be east on Eleventh street to Broadway; north to Nineteenth street; west to San Pablo avenue; south to Clay street; continuing on Clay to Twelfth street, where the line will be disbanded.

Miss Oakland of the Public Schools will occupy the seat of honor with Mayor John E. Davis, in the official car. The identity of the young person is being guessed at by citizens, answers being mailed to Mrs. Peter J. Kramer, 576 Sixty-third street. The identity of Miss Oakland will be revealed Tuesday night at the closing program of the fair.

Fremont high school has borrowed from the Native Sons' parlors the old Stage Coach and will feature early morning scenes of California. Mojave Heights Band will head the second division, leading representatives from Castro Valley, Claremont, Bella Vista and Sequoia schools.

At the head of the third division will be the Washington School Band. Judges will review the procession from a special stand.

Mrs. Edward Morgan Jones is chairman of the committee which has arranged the parade.

W. A. Barnes, principal of Hawthorne school, will act as marshal of the day. His aides are: Samuel Daugherty, Major MacCaughey, Miss Hester Gamble, Miss Minnie Brodie.

Centerville W. O. W. To Elect Officers
CENTERVILLE, Dec. 9.—A record attendance of members is predicted for the meeting of Maple Camp, No. 146, W. O. W., Saturday night, when election of officers will be held and a program of entertainment presented, to be followed by a banquet.

The election of officers comes after several postponements and interest is keen as the result of the deal.

Bobby Robertson, war veteran, is listed as the headliner on the program of entertainment. His specialty being a Scotch dialect act.

PLAY SAFETY THEAT.
OAKDALE, Dec. 9.—Opal McNaughton, survivor of the accident at Red Bluff, in which 14 school children lost their lives when a train crashed into their bus at a crossing, was until recently an Oakdale school girl. The family left here a few weeks ago for the north. Miss McNaughton will recover. As the result of the tragedy, both the high and grammar school boards of this district have issued orders to all school bus drivers to come to a standstill at every railroad crossing, look and listen.

PLANT SHADE TREES.
MANTEGA, Dec. 9.—J. D. Dean and W. F. Pennabaker of the city planning commission have reported to the city trustees that the commission suggests the use of American elm for Yosemite avenue outside of the business district. For side and residence streets yucca, black locust, black acacia and American elm were recommended. The commission also asked that property owners be requested to plant the same kind of trees in front of their properties to give streets a uniform appearance.

APARTMENT LAW PROPOSED HELD UNFAIR MEASURE

A legal opinion throwing doubt on the advisability of a city council ordinance which is proposed as a protection for apartment house owners was received today by Commissioner Frank Colburn from City Attorney Leon Gray, who places the proposed ordinance in the category of "special privilege."

The ordinance, in effect, would make it unlawful for tenants or bagmen to move furniture or effects from an apartment house without first notifying the landlord thereof. The ordinance is based somewhat on the dead ordinance which would have made it mandatory for expressmen always to give house owners long notice before moving effects. The expressmen and draymen were up in arms about it some time ago.

As for the new ordinance, Gray says: "I am unable to regard the proposed ordinance as valid. The manifest purpose is to establish a special privilege in favor of owners of furnished apartment houses employed by owners of lodging houses, hotels or inns."

WELBURN OUT OF JOB; SENDS IN HIS RESIGNATION

Revenue Officer Refuses to Act As Prohibition Sleuth.

RICHMOND, Dec. 9.—Nelson G. Welburn, division deputy of the internal revenue department, announced yesterday afternoon that he had telephoned his resignation to John P. McLaughlin, internal revenue agent, and had requested that the resignation be made effective without delay. His resignation resulted from the recent action of the department in sending a representative here to investigate public utterances made by Welburn relative to the prohibition act, and the order of the department that he assist in the actual enforcement of the dry act. Welburn declared, Welburn said he flatly refused to act as a prohibition enforcement officer, and he resented the action of the department in sending a man here to investigate his public statement, without having him come directly to the division deputy.

A few weeks ago Welburn addressed a local lodge, and among other statements declared that "prohibition is the colossal farce of the twentieth century." This declaration was immediately taken up by the dry forces, and a controversy through the local press was waged between Welburn and Rev. Paul Little, Welburn defending his stated belief.

As an aftermath of this controversy, the internal revenue department recently sent an inspector to Richmond to investigate the statements of Welburn. This inspector interviewed several local people, but did not approach Welburn himself, Welburn declares. This method of investigation, Welburn declares, was sharply resented by him.

About the same time the department issued orders that the division deputy must assist in prohibition enforcement. This he refused to do, Welburn declares. He telephoned his resignation to McLaughlin yesterday noon, Welburn states.

Welburn has been a prominent figure in Richmond, being active in fraternal and American Legion work. He is well known as an orator in this district. He states that he will open offices as a federal law expert, in Richmond, Vallejo and Napa.

Suisun Police Plan Light Signal System

SUISUN, Dec. 9.—The merchants and business men of Suisun are taking up the matter of establishing a police light system against criminal activities in the town. Also the matter of placing on an additional watchman at night.

Owing to the frequent thefts and burglaries in the town, and the field of late precautions are being taken by both towns, Fairfield having recently put on a night watchman.

It is proposed to purchase the light system by public subscription, red lights being distributed about town and a switch placed in the telephone office. Upon being notified of a robbery or unlawful act the operator will turn the switch turning on all red lights in the town, thereby notifying the watchman and citizens of it.

General Monohr Is Assigned to Hawaii

LEASER WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—General Charles T. Monohr was ordered relieved today from command of the First Division, Camp Dix, N. J., and assigned to command of the Hawaiian Division. The general, who was relieved recently as chief of the army air service upon his own request, was assigned to Camp Dix, but on account of a leave of absence did not actually take up the command.

Fearing Child's Loss, Woman Takes Poison

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—Fear that her child might be taken from her because of financial straits led Mrs. M. Shepard, 21 years old, of 2361 Mission street, to take poison early today, she declared. The woman's husband, Kenneth Shepard, baker on the U. S. S. California, discovered her on his return home this morning. She had not taken much of the poison, and the Mission hospital it was said that she would recover.

Persistent Cold Yields to Herbs

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: This is the time for colds and colds to come back to I am writing this letter now in order that others who may be suffering from the same ailment that I had suffered from so long ago, may find relief from a source that had helped me so wonderfully. I suffered from an old cold that made me a great deal of annoyance. It appeared so often in the form of a cold, made me feel short, and I was so run down that my arms were strengthless and numb most of the time. I did everything in a medical way that I knew how, but in vain, until a friend advised me to go to Po Kwong Shew for their herb medicine. I found immediate relief and later found out that persistent cold, it has been six months now since I was cured and I have not had a return of the ailment; so I cannot praise the Chinese herbs enough for my presentment. (Signed) J. W. JOHNSON, 909 Tenth Street, Oakland, Calif.

Two One-Act Plays Are to Be Given at Church

MISS ROSEMOND GILMORE (top) and MISS GRACE ARLETT, who will have part in Plymouth Center plays.

The China King's Daughter and 'Christmas Chimes' Will Be Staged.

Potassium chlorate and sulphur, Christmas bells, brilliant costumes and firecrackers will all have a part in the one-act comedy, "The China King's Daughter," which will be one of two plays to be given tonight at the Plymouth church, Plymouth avenue and Laurel streets, by members of the Plymouth Center under the direction of Miss Grace Arlett. The other play will be a one-act production, "Christmas Chimes," the cost consisting of four members of the Center. In the China play fourteen will take part.

The play is being given by the young people of Plymouth Center under the direction of Miss Arlett as a benefit to raise funds with which to convert one of the reception halls of the church into a memorial to be known as the McDonald memorial, in honor of William D. McDonald, former director of Plymouth Center, who died last year.

The first play was written by a local author, Henry Kirk of San Francisco, and is still in manuscript. It has been produced only once before, at the Players club, and its production tonight will be the most ambitious drama ever attempted by Plymouth Center. Special music for the play is written by George Edwards of San Francisco. Original settings are furnished in part by Mrs. Frank Havens and Miss S. L. Hutchins.

The leading parts of "The China King's Daughter" are: Gladys Terrill, Grace Arlett, Joseph Terrill, Albert Brinkman, Ted Owen, Holger Larsen, Dolly Wakelee, Grace Read.

I. W. W. LAUGH AS PRISON TERMS ARE PRONOUNCED

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 9.—Nine self-assured members of the industrial workers of the world, convicted here Wednesday of a seditious conspiracy, were sentenced in the superior court today to serve from one to fourteen years each in San Quentin penitentiary. They laughed aloud when sentence was pronounced and one called out, "You've made a thousand wobbles, judge."

A dozen deputies were on hand to prevent demonstrations by the defendants. The men conducted their own defenses and the trial occupied several weeks. Eleven were brought to trial, one acquitted, and the case against one dismissed by the state.

Woman Accused of Drinking Discharged

Mrs. Maud Marcoux, 1250 Masonic avenue, San Francisco, who was arrested on November 3 on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was discharged today by Police Judge Mortimer Smith. There was no evidence to sustain the charge, the judge said. August Farlo, arrested on a similar charge, also was discharged, while Richard J. Sen, accused of a like offense, was held to answer to the superior court.

OPPOSE MERGER

RIVERBANK, Dec. 9.—Canvass of the McHenry school district by Principal Brooks of the Riverbank grammar school reveals the fact that the residents of the McHenry section are not at this time in favor of consolidating with the Riverbank school district. McHenry claims it has excellent teachers, good schools and that its people are making splendid progress.

BUSINESS MEN PASS PETITIONS TO PAVE STREETS

Second Street Merchants of San Jose Plan District Improvement.

SAN JOSE, Dec. 9.—Business men of South Second street, between Santa Clara and San Antonio streets were today in the midst of plans for the improvement of their street, circulating a petition up and down the business blocks that would call for the resurfacing of Second street between the streets named.

William Halla is at the head of the petition circulators and stated this morning that he is experiencing little or no difficulty in obtaining signatures.

Halla declared that the improvement to the street is not the only step anticipated by the Second street merchants, who, he states, are planning a general clean-up in their district. There are to be a number of stores painted and re-decorated within the period immediately following Christmas, according to prevailing custom in the city of similar interest in South Second street business.

VITAMIN, SUBJECT OF HOLT LECTURE

Deploring the "commercial exploitation" of the vitamin and announcing that it cannot be looked upon as the explanation of every kind of disorder, of nutrition, Dr. L. Emmett Holt, head of the National Child Health Organization, discussed "Vitamins" at the Stanford University medical school yesterday.

This was the fourth in a series of lectures which Dr. Holt is giving with special treatment of the whole field of nutrition for the human body. He said that the field of investigation of vitamins is so recent and the effects observed both by addition and withdrawal of vitamin from the diet are so dramatic that there was danger of losing perspective and giving them too much importance.

"We must not fall into the mistake of thinking that the vitamins in the food are the only things that matter," said Dr. Holt.

About six years ago it was finally settled that there were two different kinds of vitamins, both of which were essential to growth and life. These were called the fat soluble vitamin, or vitamin A, and the water soluble vitamin or vitamin B. For the last five or six years it has been generally accepted that scurvy also was a deficiency disease due to the absence from the food of a definite vitamin. This has been designated vitamin C.

Richmond Choir Leader Honored

RICHMOND, Dec. 9.—To express their regret at her leaving the city, Mrs. Taylor F. Johnston was the guests of honor at two functions given as farewell parties for her.

The first was during the afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sidney Stitt in Albany and the other at the parlors of the First Christian church. Mrs. Johnston has been the soloist and choir leader for the past five years of the First Christian church, and members of the choir and representatives of various other organizations of the church gave the dinner in her honor at the church parlors last evening.

During the evening the guest of honor was presented with a beautiful floor lamp. Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. Taylor F. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Zumbolt, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Zumbolt, and Mr. H. H. Turley. Miss Ivy Lee, Miss Margarette Knoble, Miss Jean McLean, Mrs. A. Morehouse, Mrs. E. J. Crandall and the Misses Cora and Jane Curran, Miss Lela Collett, Miss Vera Wyatt and Miss Vera Morehouse.

During the afternoon Mrs. Johnston was the guest of honor at a luncheon which was served by the sewing club at the home of Mrs. Sidney Stitt, Albany. Mrs. Johnston was presented with a sweetmeat box by the sewing club. Those present included: Mesdames Clinton Smith, Lou Schroeder, Sidney Stitt, L. B. Barber, T. C. Crane, Auty Dignan, John Bell, Earl Morgan, B. Swearington, J. M. Long and Taylor Johnston.

Aged Widow of S. P. Builder Is Dead

Mrs. Louise Montague 75 years old, widow of the late S. P. Montague, pioneer railroad builder of the Southern Pacific company, died last night at the home of her brother, Charles H. Reddington, 148 Parkside street, following a brief illness. Mrs. Montague was one of the old pioneer residents of Oakland, having resided here for the past fifty years.

The husband of the deceased woman was for many years chief engineer of the Southern Pacific Railroad company, and had charge of the building activities of the Southern Pacific from Sacramento east to the point of contact with the road coming west. Her brother, C. H. Reddington, was president of the Oakland Board of Education for many years, and has also been associated with the Southern Pacific company for many years.

Mrs. Montague leaves two sons, S. S. Montague, Jr., of Portland, Ore., and Henry Montague of London, England. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Two Oakland Men, Dry Violators, Fined

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—John Fernandez of 1840 Sixteenth street, Oakland, was fined $300 by Federal Judge Dooling today for violation of the prohibition law, and Warren Snooks of 832 Broadway, Oakland, was fined $150. Judge Dooling decided that prohibition officers had wrongfully raided the residence of San Francisco, 1815 Seventh street, Oakland, without a search warrant.

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

Absolutely No Hurry About It.

The other day somebody told me a story of a man under sentence of death to whom the jailer came with the word that he might follow any congenial occupation he pleased during the time which would elapse before the fatal date. The prisoner had only to nominate his choice and the facilities for prosecuting it would be provided. Indeed, there was rather a suggestion that if the condemned man had not completed the favored undertaking by that day, there might be a delay in the execution of the law to give him an opportunity to finish it.

The situation having been made clear, the messenger awaited the captive's decision. "Well, old man," he said finally, "what is it you want to do?"

"I think," said the prisoner, "I'd like to learn Chinese." The hearing of this story reminded me of another—a blood brother to it—which was current in Tennessee years ago.

One chilly evening in the early part of March the sheriff entered the county jail, addressing the colored person who occupied the strongest cell, said:

"Gabe, you know that under the law my duty requires me to take you out of here tomorrow and hang you. So I've come to tell you that I want to make your final hours on earth as easy as possible. For your last breakfast you can have anything to eat that you want and as much of it as you want. What do you think you'd like to have?"

The condemned man studied for a minute. "Mr. Lukins," he said, "I b'lieves I'd lak to have a nice watermelon."

"But watermelons won't be ripe for four or five months yet," said the sheriff.

"Well, suh," said Gabe, "I kin wait."

Air Mail's "On Time" Record Is .98 Per Cent

LEASER WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The New York-San Francisco air mail service in the last six months has outstripped the Pennsylvania railroad in percentage of "on-time" performances, L. B. Lent of this city said in an address today before the aeronautical division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The New York-San Francisco planes, he said, have put up a performance percentage of 98. Ninety-six per cent of the flights were finished on scheduled time. The Pennsylvania lines, he said, boast of an "on time" percentage of 95.5 per cent.

The air mail performances for the entire year, said Lent, was $3.33 per cent. He estimated the total operating cost at about 75 cents a mile.

Filipinos in New Independence Move

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 9.—Steps toward organizing a mission of 20 members to present to the American government at Washington the claims of the Philippine islands for independence were taken today when the legislature named a joint committee of ten to study and answer the report of the Woods-Porbes commission.

Daily ALMANAC

by Ad Schuster

Beginning Sunday morning the Almanac will be found on the editorial page every day in the week.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9.

Joseph Peabody, merchant of Salem, one of the old-timers who sent out privateering vessels and who traded with India, was born in 1757. In 1791 Augustus Hillhouse was born. He wrote the hymn "Trembling Before Thine Awful Throne." There may be some who remember the old bandmaster Carlo A. Cappa, who was born in 1834 and tutored his tooters thirty years thereafter. John Milton was born in 1608.

THEY SHOULD FIX THIS RIGHT AWAY.

Out where we have our winter palace the Sacramento Short Line runs by the door. In front of the station the railroad has erected a warning sign, a neatly lettered thing and one upon which some attention has been paid. It starts off: "This Right Away is used exclusively for High Speed Trains."

In consideration of the fact that no contrails appeared yesterday we will turn the column over to them today. Here goes for a look at the mail. The first opened follows:

THE LAD AND THE LIE.

Sir: Trusting the following will not imperil the morals of your clientele, we are, indeed, yours—Corisande.

When lovely woman stoops to folly
And craves a hat both chic and gay,
What balm can soothe her melancholy
If John protests the price she'd pay?

The only scheme she can discover
To flaunt her hat in every eye,
Yet keep dyspepsia from her lover,
Is—burn the tag, and bravely lie.

Unless they violate the postal regulations, they shall all be used. Now there is this one, is it or is it not an unique brand of humor?

Dear Ad: I take my pen in hand to let you no that my brother, Oar, blue his nose saw hard he put 1 eye out las week. Unconsciously yours—Winn.

More anon.

Only sixteen more wishing days before Christmas. The world looks to America for faith, hope and charity. The premiums on a foreign policy are paid to the home manufacturers. You can say one thing for Japan. She has the courage of her petticoats. Now if the jingo viewers-with-alarm will only take a ten-year holiday. Babies' savings banks would be ore popular if it wasn't so hard get the money out when parnts are short of change. Most of the crazy rumors seem get their start in "well-informed circles."

It is difficult to set the world to rights while everybody is clamoring for his "rights."

If there were no tight-wads, where would the good spenders borrow money to tide them over until pay day?

Among the words recently adopted into the common language's camouflage, morale, normalcy, agenda and billion.

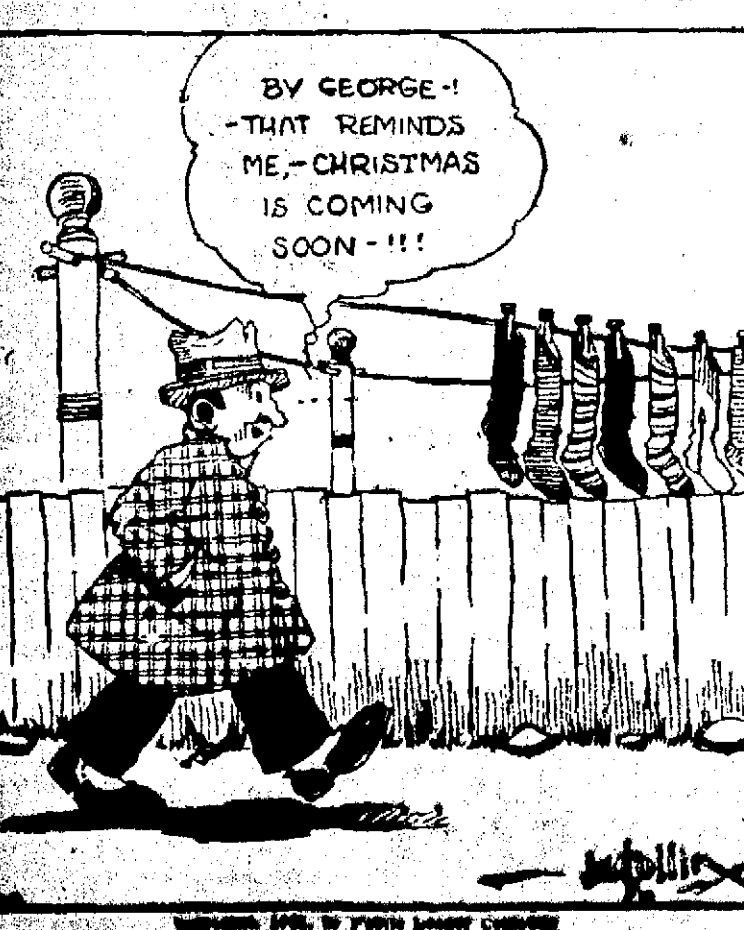

Justice may be blind, but she is a wise defendant who puts on her most becoming frock.

Good fellow: Any married man who shows the boys a good time and urges his wife to make over last winter's coat suit.

An Englishman says American statesmen are more frank than one of Europe. Yes, so much of their thought is given to franking. Police should not condemn vagrants too quickly. Scientists are read that the whole world is without visible means of support. Fear of what bad people will say may keep a man from being bad, but fear of what good people will say doesn't keep him from being bad. We believe the man who says we won't fight Japan for twenty ars. It will take that long to think up a noble principle to get elited about.

Up-Country Delegates to Unite Against Division

Delegates from most of the up-country communities will meet tonight at San Leandro town hall to voice their protests against county division and to plan a united front to keep the county intact. They represent cities and towns that defeated the division scheme in the last election by overwhelming majorities and helped pile up the 19,000 majority with which the county as a whole repudiated the measure.

Among the delegates who will be present are: Farley Cranger, San Leandro; George H. Owens, Livermore; E. W. O'Donnell, Livermore; William Krum, Ashland; D. C. Soules, Alameda; Thomas Turner, Livingston; M. C. Dashi, Niles; E. W. Schenck, Alameda; J. K. Taylor, Alameda; James Gorham, Newark; H. M. Springer, Alameda; T. P. Hawes, Centerville; P. V. Jones, Niles; Ralph Richmond, Niles; O. N. H. Smith, Livermore; C. W. Smith, Centerville; Henry May, Decoto; H. Ralph, Alameda; John Barber, Silva; Newark; Short-Riddie, Newark.

DECLARED SHORT-SIGHTED

Division of Alameda county will destroy for all time the chances for a real amalgamation of the East Bay and one that might include Richmond and other Contra Costa points is the opinion of the Martinez Gazette in an editorial which denigrates the idea of the county divisionists as short sighted. The editorial says: "From the standpoint of the county as a whole, it looks like a short-sighted policy for the city of Oakland to cut herself out of Alameda county and become a city and county government. It looks equally foolish for Berkeley to be maneuvering to become a county all by her lonesome."

In a decade hence the whole East Bay will likely have become a solid city, including Richmond, Alameda, Oakland and Berkeley are already one in contour, and, if geographically combined and all pulling together there is a promising possibility for the building of the largest city on the Pacific Coast.

DESERVE DECISIVE DEFEAT.

More outspoken is the Livermore Herald, representing a district which under the county division plan, would be forced into a separate county in defiance of its expressed wishes. The Herald says editorially: "Those Oaklanders who are going ahead with their plans to divide the county are deserving of a decisive defeat at the coming election. Unwilling to accept the verdict at the polls they are going so far as to advocate a city and county of Oakland with the present boundary lines of Oakland as its limits if they can get it."

MARY PICKFORD EN ROUTE HOME WITH 40 GOWNS

PARIS, Dec. 9.—Customs officials in New York are reported to be holding their lips in anticipation of a rich harvest when Mary Pickford arrives on the liner Paris. Dressmakers here report that Mary purchased forty gowns and costumes, "one for every mood."

Mary prefers long skirted tailormade because they "make me look taller." While Mary and Doug are called the season's most spectacular spenders Mary lost twelve pounds in weight while in Europe. Reports heralding an addition to the family are positively denied.

Marionettes to Act For Wellesley Club

There are few who do not retain since childhood memory of the unique characters in "Rip Van Winkle" and the fairy story, "Rose and the Ring," which will be presented by Tony Sarg's famous marionettes at the Auditorium theater on December 21. The performance are presented under the auspices of the Central California Wellesley Club as a benefit for Wellesley College in Massachusetts.

TRAVELERS AT SANTA CRUZ

SANTA CRUZ, Dec. 9.—Globe trotters have been stopping at the Hotel St. George for several days. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beckett and Miss Beckett, who have been thrice around the world, and in the past few years have traveled more than 94,000 miles.

LONG, THE COFFEE MAN
This is the QUALITY OF COFFEE you have to pay 45c to 50c for elsewhere. The KIND OF COFFEE you are willing to go a good many blocks out of your way to procure. The KIND OF COFFEE which is grown way up in the high mountains which gives it that fine aroma and flavor which has made Long's Coffee so much talked about. The KIND OF COFFEE, if once used, is always used. A good old lady customer of ours said to me one day: "Mr. Long, I like your Coffee because, when I put it in the kitchen you can smell the 'Romeo' all over the house."

One Quart a Day for each child and adult

—yet we have proof in our newspapers that thousands of children in Alameda County are starving for milk.

Surgeon-General Hughes Canning, Chief of U. S. Public Health Service, said this month:

"One quart of milk daily should be consumed by a growing child, and the same amount would be beneficial for most adults. Yet mothers of our children do not get half the needed allowance. Tens of thousands of school children do not drink milk at all."

Do YOUR children get enough milk?

Livermore Notes

LIVERMORE, Dec. 8.—John Mulquoney, a pioneer resident of this community, died at his home here on Poston avenue Tuesday, December 6. The deceased was a native of Ireland, aged 80 years. The following nephews and nieces are left to mourn his death: J. F. Mulquoney, M. C. Mulquoney, J. F. Mulquoney, Mike Mulquoney, Alice Manning, Josie Purdy. The funeral was held from his late residence this morning, a requiem mass being celebrated later at St. Michael's church.

D. Dieckhoff, a farmer of the Tesla district, who suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home a few weeks ago and has been confined at the emergency hospital undergoing treatment, has been taken to the county hospital at San Leandro.

Semper Fidelis Chapter, O. E. S., held installation of officers Wednesday evening. Miss Frieda Wente, the retiring Matron, presided as installing officer, and the following were installed: Mrs. T. P. Brady, matron; Mrs. Matilda Hansen, associate matron; Frank Curzon, patron; Helen Wilson, conductress; Mrs. G. O. Smallcomb, associate conductress; Mrs. F. L. Savage, secretary; Mrs. A. O. Lindbergh, treasurer; Mrs. J. O. McKown, warden; Chester Beck, sentinel; Gertrude Wilson, Ada Pearl, warden; Ruth, Lois Henry, Esther, Janice McGuire, Martha; Effie Wilder, Electra; Frieda Wente, marshal; Mrs. D. McDonald, chaplain; Myrtle Harp, organist. Music and singing were interspersed between the installation of officers. Refreshments were served.

BERKELEY AND PALO ALTO PLAY CHAMPIONSHIP FOOTBALL GAME AT CALIFORNIA FIELD

Bruins Accept W. & J. Game, Definite Word

Statement From South Says

Game Is On: They Haven't Told Berkeley Yet.

BERKELEY, Dec. 9. — Reports that negotiations had been concluded for a football game between the University of California and Washington and Jefferson College was the feature of the Tournament of Roses celebration at Pasadena, January 1, here confirmed today by Robert Spruiell, University of California controller.

PASADENA, Dec. 9.—University of California football team will play Washington State today at 10 a. m. here on New Year's Day at the annual Tournament of Roses. Discussed at a meeting of the executive board a week, the football committee of the association and Morse Cartwright, secretary of the association, and the president of the executive board, the University of California, agreed to cordial terms last yesterday. The reason for the earlier decision was the reason of the Bears, and nobody appeared to care, now that the thing is settled.

The above statement, coming as it does from Southern California, must be taken with a grain of salt. It is a fact that has happened within the past twenty-four hours. Full power was given to the hands of Morse Cartwright, secretary of the University of California, and President of the University of California, to appear before the members of the tournament on very friendly terms and should have con-

WHY NOT SAY 'SOT'?

But why not appraise the Graduate Manager's office of the University of California of the fact? This action of the board is in view of the fact that he checked late yesterday, yet it is 9 o'clock this morning. Assistant President Nichols is in charge of the institution in the absence of Lute Nichols Jr. Nichols had not been informed of any definite action of the board, and was not in a position to make any official statement. The conducting of the election was in the hands of the representative of the president's office in the south and in search of California. Nichols stated that her position was without any satisfactory understanding between Wright and the Tournament of Roses. Nichols is the president of the Texas A. & M. college. It looks as though the former

Right now the game is on and California is due to start active work about the 15th of this month. Late in the day, when the south may declare it off and in the course of the next ten days or two weeks the people in the south may take it into their heads to inform the Graduate Managers Association, which is the medium of this section through which the interested public secures their official news, that the game is to be played. It would seem that the local office in the south would be in a position to negotiate even though the negotiators have, at the last, been conducted by other parties.

Patricia Foreign Yacht, Claim Made

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—That the yacht Patricia, owned by James Sheehan of New York, seized by the Federal authorities with a hundred cases of liquor on board, was purchased from a foreigner and the liquor loaded at a foreign port under another flag, was the statement today of Attorney Gavin McNab.

"The report that Sheehan bought the vessel from Arthur Meaker of Chicago is an error," said McNab. "He purchased it through an agent from whom I learn that it was owned abroad, was under foreign registry and that the liquor was not loaded in any American port. Whether it is still of foreign registry, I expect to learn positively later in the day."

The Patricia is anchored in Man-o'-War Row in the bay and government officials are waiting definite word as to the register, before taking any further steps.

FIREMAN KILLS SELF.

SEATTLE, Dec. 9.—Despondent because he had been placed on the retired pension list, Battalion Fire Chief William Carr early today committed suicide by slashing his throat.

$1,014,500 NOW AVAILABLE FOR U. OF C. STADIUM

Subscriptions At Present Insure Construction of Bowl for Athletic Events.

BERKELEY, Dec. 9.—Funds raised in the drive for a new stadium for the University of California were today officially announced as reaching a total of $1,014,500 by Dean Frank H. Probert, chairman of the stadium executive committee.

The committee's report states that the funds raised are sufficient to insure the building of the stadium, and that final arrangements are being entered into for the purchase of the site as determined upon at the beginning of the campaign—the two blocks adjoining the southwest corner of the campus, bounded by Bancroft way, Alhambra street, Alston way and Chapel street.

The committee's report shows that stadium subscribers are classified as follows: 6914 in the alumni, faculty and general public class, and 3230 in the student class.

The California Memorial Stadium, as has been announced, will be of the double-deck type. No other type, to accommodate 60,000 people, could be built on the contemplated site, and moreover, even though unlimited area was available, all things considered, the coliseum type is preferable. Beauty of design, pleasing proportions, close proximity of all spectators to the playing field, adaptation for other purposes than athletic contests, fullest utilization of space, are points in favor of the double-deck type that readily suggest themselves. The tentative plans drawn by the architect show that every seat holder will enjoy an unobstructed view of the games. As in the construction of modern theaters, the audience is projected towards the stage, so in the proposed stadium, the spectators will have a "close-up" of the games and crowds, which is not possible with a single-deck structure.

WOMAN HELD AS AID TO BURGLAR

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 9.—George K. Steele, who, the police believe, has committed more than a score of burglaries in the city and who was arrested on Wednesday night at 750 Sixth avenue, where he and Miss Juanita Blisdon lived, is being held on a charge of burglary. Steele is in his thirties, has a companion, the detectives declare today. Steele is particularly charged with the theft of liquor from a residence at 753 Fourth avenue. Miss Blisdon drove to the place with Steele and waited outside in an automobile while he committed the burglary, the police assert. She is being held on a charge of burglary. "I suspected Steele was committing burglary," the young woman declared in the city prison. She wore a handsome fur coat. Among the homes which the man is alleged to have entered is that of Judge George E. Cabaniss, 2198 Ninth avenue.

A charge of embezzling a phonograph was first placed against Steele. A watch on his person was traced, leading to the suspicion that he had committed theft. The prisoner made admissions that led to the burglary charge.

San Diego Strives to Lure Ducks from Lake Merritt

Oakland's world-famous annual "Wild Duck Pageant" on Lake Merritt has aroused the envy and admiration of San Diego and a movement has been started to take away the pageant from Oakland and have it held in the southern city.

The San Diegans have the water and the wish. All they lack is the ducks. So they are building a similar plot to induce the ducks, as they pass in flight over San Diego, to drop into Mission bay, alongside Point Loma, in the belief the birds ultimately may be prevailed upon to make Mission bay their regular winter preserve.

Whether it is hoped and planned to accomplish this through the medium of southern California publicity or the chase of duck-calls similar to those used by hunters has not been disclosed.

SAN DIEGO'S PLAN.
Here is the way one enthusiastic resident of San Diego sums up the matter.

"A water park and close preserve on Mission bay would, in three or four years, make San Diego one of the most hunting grounds in the world, and at the same time provide an aviary of wild ducks far surpassing that which has made Oakland famous."

The pageant committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, which received word today concerning San Diego's plans, is not alarmed over the situation. It will not abandon its plans and expects annually to welcome the birds for years to come. It believes that the ordinary duck possesses too much native intelligence, discretion and tact to discard Lake Merritt, with all its pleasures.

Mills Club Holds Its Yuletide Bazaar

"The Wolf of Gubbio," the Josephine Preston Penbody Christmas play, will be read by Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College, tonight in the Ivory Ballroom of Hotel Oakland, as the finale to the all-day Yuletide Festival and Bazaar, which the Mills Club of Alameda County has given in benefit to the $2,000,000 college endowment.

Friends of the college and clubwomen thronged the Rose and Ivory ball room today where a holiday scene was staged, dividing attention between the brilliant booths and the music in which Una Waldrop, Mrs. Marguerite Ross Waldrop, Charles Eulard, Mrs. Patrick O'Connor, Morio and Mrs. Minna McGauley assisted by the Arion Trio, participated. The Ethel Moore Memorial Hall was featured in a booth devoted entirely to its interest. Plans for the structure to accommodate 100 students drawn by Miss Julia Morgan were made public for the first time. Postal cards showing the character were sold at $1, purchasing a brick in the dormitory.

A Matter of Simple Arithmetic

Which shall it be—a frame house or one of Dickey Mastertile? Repair and upkeep bills of a wooden house grow steadily year by year. Repair costs of a Dickey Mastertile house are slight.

A wooden house deteriorates faster and faster as it grows older. Deterioration of a Dickey Mastertile house is negligible. An important point should you wish to sell.

Fire is a constant menace to the wooden house and its contents. A Dickey Mastertile house will defy fire as it defies age and decay.

A wooden house and Dickey Mastertile house cost the same to build. Which will you have?
